BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

$116,000 in Serial Bonds Authorized for Water, Sewer, and School Purposes.

Fifteen-Minute Electric Service to be Partially Restored Between Lower Falls and Nonantum Square.

At the regular meeting of the board of aldermen on Monday evening, President Weed was in the chair, and Aldermen Baker, Barber, Bowen, Brown, Carter, Chesley, F. A. Day, H. B. Day, Dennison, Ellis, Ensign, Hubbard, Lothrop, Mellen, Norris, Johnson, Hunt, Sweeney, and Webster were also present.

HEARINGS.

At the hearings upon taking land for sewer purposes in Abbott, Butts, Williams streets, Williams court, and between Abbott street and Williams court, a remonstrance of W. C. Hard et al was read and filed. Mr. J. F. Doyle spoke in favor and the hearings were closed.

Walter H. Knapp, Reuben Forknall and Frank W. McAleer were drawn as Traverse jurors for the Superior Court, by Alderman Ellis.

A communication from the mayor enclosing a letter from F. C. Perry in regard to condition of Newtonville drain, was read and the recommendation of the mayor that the City Engineer be directed to investigate and report was adopted.

Communication from the School committee requesting that accommodations be provided in the Mason school for manual training was referred to the Committee on Public Works and a request for $240 for an extra teacher in the Hyde school district was received and filed.

Claims of Edgar O. Achorn for damages on account of injuries received on Washington street and of A. Brackett for compensation for land taken for sewer in Russell road were referred to the Committee on Claims.

The opinion of the City Solicitor that the city could not require a record to be kept of what free transfers are given by street railway companies and that such a record kept by the city would have no legal value was received and ordered printed.

A petition from F. W. Hamilton et al for employment of ice companies that the delivery of ice on Sundays be prohibited, was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Petitions of E. G. Washburn et al for a sewer in Auburn street and of W. C. Strong et al for the laying out of Kinnmouth road were referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Petitions of C. W. Keefe for a wagon license and of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Chestnut terrace were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises, a hearing being ordered on the latter for June 11 at 7.45 p. m.

Alderman Barber's motion to grant the petition of William B. Weldon for two wagon licenses, without reference, was opposed by Alderman Sweeney, who intimated that the petition was simply a cover to restore a license to the person whose license was recently revoked. The motion to grant was then withdrawn and the petition referred to the Committee on Public Franchises.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

These reports were received: FINANCE: Favorable to $200 for printing old records; favorable to $500 for additional expenses, Hyde school district; favorable to $240 for additional teacher, Hyde school; and recommending issue of $50,000 serial sewer bonds.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending granting attachments on California, Middle and Chapel streets and pole location on Sylvan avenue to Telephone Co.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending $500 additional for expenses, Hyde school district, and $15,906.50 for addition to High school.

RULES: That ordinance amending building ordinance was correctly enrolled.

These committee reports were adopted:

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending granting licenses to Celestine Bocarrosa, street musician; C. E. Hodges, wagon, and S. A. Piper, steam launch, Charles River; recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Joe Peters for street musician license, and leave to withdraw on Telephone Co. petition for relocation of poles on Dedham and Parker streets.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition for sewer in Crafts street, inexpedient on matter of changing heating system, Hyde school, and recommending that protest against sewer in Woodward street be filed.

Alderman Chesley explained that it was deemed inexpedient to make changes in the heating plant of the Hyde school on account of the great expense and thought it better to wait until a new building was erected and then install a plant sufficient for both buildings. Alderman Mellen said there was no doubt but what a new system was needed but he would yield to the judgment of the committee.

Alderman H. B. Day made a verbal report upon the matter of requiring the Wellesley and Boston Street Railway Co. to run cars from Lower Falls to Nonantum square on 15 minute time. Mr. Day stated that President Claflin had agreed to establish 15 minute service between the hours of 6 and 10 a. m. and 2 and 8 p. m. as soon as the schedule could be arranged. Alderman Day believed this would be a proper solution of the matter at the present time.

Alderman Baker said that this was a step in advance, although it is not all that is wanted by the Lower Falls. The principal difficulty is the time. The car he had taken that evening was 16 minutes late. He believed the committee had done well to obtain the extra cars but he also believed that the old schedule should be fully restored.

On motion of Alderman Mellen the unfinished business of the order for $9250 for purchase of additional school land for the Hyde school and the order for $740 for additional expenses Hyde school were tabled until the next meeting. Alderman Mellen stated that the Newton Highlands Improvements Society was considering the general matter of school accommodations. The report was then accepted.

The report of the Claims Committee of leave to withdraw on petition of May O. Brown for abatement of tax claimed to have been paid was taken up and City Treasurer Ranlett called upon for an explanation.

Major Ranlett stated that there were several parcels of land taxed to the Walker estate in which Mrs. Brown was interested, and paid at different times. This charge was in 1897, and a clerk in checking off the taxes paid had inadvertently included the item in controversy. The error was not discovered until 1901 and had been examined by two expert accountants, and Mrs. Brown had been unable to show any receipt or check for the same. The City Solicitor had rendered his opinion that there was no law to authorize an abatement of such a tax, and it was the duty of the collector to collect it.

Alderman Johnson opposed the report saying that Mrs. Brown was working on a clue to prove her position that the tax had been paid. The bill was 5 years old and there was a reasonable doubt as to whether or not it had been paid. He presented an order referring the matter to a referee whose decision should be final. Alderman H. B. Day opposed the order unless it was first referred to the Claims Committee, and believed that there was no question as to the rights in the matter.

Alderman Mellen said that the Claims Committee was satisfied that the tax had not been paid and believed that the matter had been dilly dallied with long enough.

The order was then referred to the City Solicitor and upon his subsequent report that the board had no authority to pass such an order, it was rejected and the report of leave to withdraw was adopted.

Orders for $50,000 serial water bonds and for $5500 for moving Wade school buildings were referred to the Committee on Finance and a recess taken to allow that committee to meet.

Upon reassembling, favorable reports were received from that committee upon the orders for $50,000 serial water bonds and for $5500 for moving Wade school buildings and these orders were adopted. A majority report from this committee favoring $16,000 for additional accommodations at the High school was also received.

These orders were then adopted:

$200 for printing old records; $50,000 serial sewer bonds, 25 years, granting N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. attachments on California, Middle and Chapel streets, and pole location on Sylvan avenue, taking land for sewers and authorizing sewer construction in Abbott, Butts, Williams street, Williams court and between Williams court and Abbott street.

The ordinance amending the building ordinance was passed to be ordained.

The order authorizing the completion of the fourth story of the High school at an expense of $16,000 was opposed by Alderman Hubbard, who said that the finishing of the rooms at the south end was unnecessary at the present time and he believed that only the north end should be finished and charged to the tax levy.

Alderman Lothrop said that the Finance Committee had become convinced that it was unwise to add over $9000 to the tax levy of this year and if the expense was to be bonded it was better to do the whole work now.

The order was then adopted, Alderman Hubbard voting nay.

An order for issuing $16,000 in serial bonds for 8 years for this improvement was presented and Alderman F. A. Day upon request explained why serial bonds were preferable. He said that the city is at the mercy of the brokers in the matter of investing its sinking funds and that there is often a loss of interest between that paid on the loan and that received from the sinking fund. In addition there is what is called the moral risk such as improper handling of the sinking fund, the loss from improper investment and from possible dishonesty.

President Weed stated that in his opinion a sinking fund was a danger, and when it becomes large is unwieldy. He personally was very glad to see the serial bond adopted. The order was then adopted and at 10.10 p. m. the board adjourned.

Third Rail Electrics on the Circuit.

Plans are being completed in the local engineering department of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, for a third rail electric system of the suburban service on the Boston & Albany line. The plans contemplate the establishment of the service on the Newton Circuit and on the Newton Lower Falls branch. The company, however, has no intention of installing electricity in the near future and is having the plans made for the purpose of determining the cost of such changes. In any event, the electric system would not be put into operation for several years.

When the South Station was built the loop tracks entering the basement of the station and which were intended for electric suburban travel were so arranged that they connect with both the tracks of the Albany system and those of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, so that either road may utilize them.

Coming Out Party.

A largely attended coming out tea was given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Andrew B. Cobb of Centre street, in honor of her daughter, Miss Margaret Eleanor Cobb.

Over 400 guests were present and the handsome residence and grounds were beautifully decorated.

Miss Cobb received informally from 5 to 7, assisted by her mother, and the following ladies, who poured: Miss Helen L. Fitch, Miss Mabel L. Riley, Miss Amy Brooks, Miss Mildred A. Fenn, Miss Genevieve Mullen, Miss Julia Colby, Miss Helen Edmonds, Mrs. William Brewster Ely, Miss Elinor Frost, Miss Carmelita Shreve, Miss Wilhelmina Shreve, Miss Margaret Peirce and Miss Charlotte Allen.

The debutante wore a costume of white chiffon and silk, with lilies of the valley, while Mrs. Cobb's gown was of crepe de chine trimmed with black jet. She wore lavender sweet peas. Refreshments were served in a large tented pavilion, ornate with flowers, on one of the broad lawns. Music during the afternoon was furnished by members of the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Kuntz.

SPLENDID SPEECHES AT BANQUET IN TEMPLE HALL.

Memorial Day last Saturday from every point of view, was a glorious success. The weather was perfect, the parade well managed, the dress parade showed the militia and high school boys at their best, and the concluding banquet and attending speeches were most satisfactory.

The parade was under the direction of Comrade C. W. Sweetland, chief marshal; Lieut. Col. W. L. Sanborn, adjutant and Capt. Chas. W. Knapp, chief of staff.

It was formed at Newton Centre and moved as follows:

THE PLAYHOUSE.

KEITH'S THEATRE June 8.—Vaudeville.

TREMONT THEATRE, June 8.—"Peggy from Paris."

MAJESTIC THEATRE, June 8.—"York State Folks."

BOSTON THEATRE, June 8.—"The Defender."

MUSIC HALL, June 1.—Carl Hagenbeck's Trained Animals.

Majestic Theatre—When the newest of all rural plays came to Boston a short time ago it was announced as being better than the best work of the late James A. Herne in "Sag Harbor." The new pastoral play is absolutely the best that has been offered in a Boston playhouse. The story is clean, consistent and wholesome. The characters are drawn absolutely from life. Two more striking types could not be found than those of Simon Martin, the village magnate and Myron Cooper the old organist. There is a sweet thread of a love story throughout, there is enough comedy to satisfy anyone and as to the company the verdict is perfection.

Tremont Theatre—One of the most brilliant stage pictures that has ever been witnessed by audiences in Boston or any other city is to be seen at the Tremont Theatre when Gorgia Caine, as Peggy, makes her entrance in the first act of the successful George Ade musical comedy, "Peggy from Paris." The brilliantly lighted stage is filled from one side of the proscenium arch to the other, and from the footlights to the back, with scores of handsome women beautifully costumed, arranged in artistic groups. There are flowers and palms and elaborate scenery, and to the stirring strains of one of the best compositions of William Loraine, Miss Caine makes her entrance. This is only one of dozens of such stage pictures in "Peggy from Paris." The piece is without doubt the most elaborate of the many musical comedy productions that have been made by Henry W. Savage. The past week's business at the Tremont proves that the fame of this last work of George Ade has spread not only throughout Boston, but to out-of-town places. That this highly successful piece is one of the best "repeaters" in the history of musical comedy has been proved by the Boston engagement. So great has been the demand for seats in advance that it is safe to predict that all records for long runs at the Tremont Theatre, and there are many good ones, will be broken.

Keith's Theatre—The advancing summer brings no diminution in the attractiveness of Keith's Boston show house, for the class of entertainment is in every way equal to that given in the regular season, while the auditorium is one of the coolest and most comfortable in the country. For the week commencing June 8 another fine program is to be offered, in addition to the petite concerts by the Fadelles women's orchestra, which is this year more popular than last season. Among the entertainers scheduled to appear are Rice and Cady, German dialect comedians, late with "Fiddle-Dee-Dee;" Beatrice Moreland, monologue comedienne; Herbert Lloyd, the noted comedy juggler; the Glincretis, a wonderful troupe of acrobats, and Crawford and Manning, blackface fun-makers and dancers. The Fadelles' concerts of popular music will continue at 2 and 8 p. m., an entire change of selections being made.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The opening week of the season at Norumbega Park has brought out unusually large attendances for such an early date in summer. The young folks are delighted to find many of the old friends in the Zoological Garden, including those fine specimens of African lions, "Empress and Emperor."

In the rustic theatre the star feature of the bill this week consists of Col. Schultz's Great Danes, who seem to possess almost human intelligence. Favor and Sinclair hold the audience earnestly as long as they are willing to stay on the stage. They present their latest comedy skit, "The Maguire's" a marvellous exhibition of serial gymnastics and lofty tumbling is given by the Three Millettes, a trio of acrobats. A capital dancing act of a most unique nature is presented by Ward and Raymond, a pair of the most polished terpsichorean exponents

"Strength and vigor come of good food, duly digested. 'Force', a ready-to-serve wheat and barley food, adds in burden but sustains, nourishes, invigorates."

Boston Music Hall—The second and last week but one of the Carl Hagenbeck trained animal company will commence at Boston Music Hall next Monday afternoon, and those who have not yet witnessed the exhibitions given by these wonderful animals and birds, should make it a point to visit the theatre before the exhibition closes and see for themselves what a wonderful exhibition this really is. There is nothing in the world like it, and the performance is way ahead of any performance ever given by a circus. It is the only exhibition of its kind given in a theatre. The feeding of the animals takes place at the close of the performance at night, and everyone who visits the theatre in the evening should wait for this great scene.

His Honor John W. Weeks, Mayor.

City Government in carriages.

The column was reviewed by Mayor Weeks and the city government at the corner of Centre and Beacon streets, and then proceeded over Beacon and Walnut streets to the Newton cemetery. Here the usual exercises were held, including the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg speech by Commander G. L. Keyes. Following the singing of America and the sounding of taps the line was reformed and marched to the drill field in the rear of the High school, where evening parade was formed.

The high school boys then had dinner in the drill hall while the Post and invited guests made their way to Temple hall, for the usual banquet.

After cigars were lighted, Commander Keyes welcomed the gathering in a few eloquent words and introduced Mayor Weeks as the first speaker.

Capt. Weeks told of the incident happening in the Newton schools the day before, when one of the comrades had asked the children who wrote the hymn America, which had just been sung. No one answered immediately and then a little girl ventured the name of "Mr. Dooley." The mayor also emphasized the general failure on the part of the American people to doff the hat when the flag was carried by them. He suggested that the Grand Army might work on these lines in the future, and said that no child in Newton ought to be ignorant of the name of the author of America, nor lack respect for the flag. The mayor gave an interesting description of the present condition of the battle field of Fredericksburg as an illustration of his belief that patriotism can be stimulated by visiting the great battle fields of the Rebellion.

The mayor closed with an appeal to all to do the present duty of giving personal attention to public affairs; to take an interest in the Hospital, the church, the Pomroy Home, and the schools, and to pay particular attention to municipal affairs and the suffrage.

President Weed of the board of aldermen spoke as one of the new generation and referred to the almost cynical feeling generated in seeing how little the average citizen wishes to give and how much he expects from the government.

He said he would like to see the moral sentiment, such as was aroused during the civil war, come to the front again in these days, and solve the problems of good government.

Chief Marshal Sweetland stated that the Grand Army had made Memorial Day and the many lessons which are drawn from it. He enumerated the qualities of an ideal manhood and referred to President Roosevelt and Mayor Weeks as men with clear cut ideals and backbone to declare them.

General Luther Stephenson, who was Colonel of the 32nd Mass. Regt. during the war, the 32nd being the regiment of which the Newton company was a part, was the next speaker and was received with three cheers. He told the story of the aftermath of Gettysburg, when wounded himself, he passed the night with Charles Ward, for whom the post was named, and who died the following day. The General related his experiences in getting to his home in Hingham, and the warm feeling in the country for the soldier.

He said that in his experiences as Governor of the Soldiers' Home at Togus, Me., where over 10,000 men had been under him, he had not found one who regretted that he had served as a soldier and many, who were mental, physical and moral wrecks clung to their soldiers' record as the only atonement they could offer for their subsequent misdeeds.

Rev. A. L. Hudson made an eloquent speech, saying, in part that the most impressive thing to him during the day had been the high school boys, who will soon come to know what it is to be citizens of the republic which the veterans had helped to save. He believed it was good to realize that citizenship meant giving one's life for his country. Mr. Hudson was not afraid of a strong military system nor of a strong navy and believed it was our duty to enforce our ideas upon the world in cases of emergency.

Mr. Hudson said that frauds in our naturalization had made citizenship cheap and that we invite those who enter our country to destroy and not to uphold its government. We have extended the franchise through a mistake, and now the ignorant and vicious have a vote which counts as much as those of the veterans. He called upon the Grand Army to stand for the principle of and of the judicious and thoughtful restriction of the franchise.

Hon. Henry E. Cobb said he had never been so thrilled at a Memorial Day before and he would rather preach a sermon on vicarious suffering than make an after dinner speech.

Principal E. C. Adams of the High school said he was conscious of his tremendous responsibility in the care of 800 boys and girls, and the need of inspiring them with true patriotism. He believed the two things which should be emphasized were individual responsibility and law abiding consciousness.

Other speakers were Col. Sanborn, Miss Edythe Hopping of the Daughters of Veterans, Capt. Springer of the Cliffin Guard, Lieut. G. F. Guilford of the Spanish War Veterans, Capt. Wentworth of the Sons of Veterans, Rev. Dr. H. J. Patrick, Rev. C. M. Southgate and Rev. John Mattison.

Comrade W. A. Wetherbee called the attention of the mayor and aldermen to the law requiring that flags shall be placed on all school houses, and urged that the children be taught to salute the flag.

The audience then sang America, and the benediction was pronounced by the chaplain, Comrade S. P. Putnam.

The Grand Army post were the guests of the united churches of Abundant last Sunday afternoon, the services taking place in the Congregational church. The exercises consisted of a welcome by Rev. C. M. Southgate, singing by the congregation and a choir, the reading of the scriptures by Rev. John Mattison of the Church of the Messiah, a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Haddock of the Methodist church, and an address by Congressman Samuel L. Powers.

We shall print the address in full in our next issue.

Financial.

The short side of the market continues to be the popular side, and we suppose it will be just as long as the professional traders find short sales profitable. Sentiment is extremely bearish, and there has doubtless been much liquidation of long stock during the past week. The short interest is tremendous, however, and on the first signs of any change in speculative sentiment we look to see a scramble to cover.

There is every evidence that the recent liquidation will not be resumed. The prices of good securities have now been pounded so low that any further attacks of the bears will be followed with the greatest danger. Bruin has now to guard himself against the great army of investors, which, attracted by the extremely low prices, is giving the stock market the best support it has had for months.

The recent agitation in Lower

Falls over the time and running schedules of the electric cars, has brought out the fact that through service into Boston has its drawbacks as well as its advantages.

It can be easily seen that on a single track line with turnouts at regular intervals, and cars starting from either end promptly on time, the delays at the turnouts are infrequent and trifling. When, however, the attempt is made at one end to run cars into a congested city, the time when they will again arrive at the terminus of the single track on the return trip is very uncertain. The car bound in the other direction will wait on the prescribed turnout, thus delaying its own trip, and the running schedule is soon demoralized.

It becomes a serious question then whether, on a single track line, the advantages of not changing cars at the junction point, is not of less consequence than a definite time schedule.

A partial solution can be found in double tracking the line but that is rather expensive for a company covering a large suburban territory.

Police Paragraphs.

The police made an unsuccessful attempt to capture speedy automobilists last Sunday afternoon, a secchines were given plenty of warning and slowed down in time.

Arthur P. Hawes of Dorchester were given the usual fine of $10 on Wednesday for fast driving of automobiles on Commonwealth avenue.

Thursday morning George Wilson was sentenced to the State Farm at Bridgewater for vagrancy. Wilson

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

Boston, May 27.

But two more days remain of the merry month of May, during which the Legislature can work up bills and resolves to their final stage. The writer is of opinion that the President of the Senate is right in his view that prorogation might have been secured two days hence but it is impossible to have special investigations, and such hold-ups of important bills, as came in connection with the Boston police registration bill, and adjourn early. The committees wasted very little time this year, and there has been very slight waste of time on the part of either the House or the Senate, the latter body particularly keeping ahead of its work all the time. The weary hours which will be spent hereafter on legislation may be charged up directly to the dilatory tactics of certain men, who have taken the attitude of delay solely for political purposes.

We have had three investigations this year. The coal investigation was called for by the situation and by public opinion. The Kiley investigation was simply incidental, being provoked by the Barnett charges before a regular hearing of the joint committee on election laws.

The third investigation was as to alleged wrong doing of certain senators. Very few people have discovered a connection between this investigation and the gas consolidation bill, but it does not need a very big magnifying glass to find that there is one. It is a notable fact that this consolidation bill came from a committee which for years had been viewed with suspicion. There have been investigations by this committee when many have felt that it would have been more proper to have investigations of it. But this year there has been no question in the mind of any person of judgment that the committee on public lighting was carefully selected and has pursued its duties with a public spirit most commendable, and with an entire absence of anything looking like corruption. A good many people are disposed to feel, however, that the gas consolidation bill would never have got through the House in the way that it has, had not the Senate investigation been going on simultaneously. The bill gave one big chance, which might have been taken advantage of by men of doubtful honesty, had not the public sentiment in the House and Senate been on the qui vive. A suspicion of log-rolling or corruption in connection with this bill at the present time would have made more trouble than has yet been the lot of our rather afflicted General Court.

The effort of Mr. Wallace D. Lovell of Newton and others to secure street railway between Fitchburg and Lowell, with a branch to Nashua, has proved a failure.

As the matter now stands, Mr. Lovell must go to the railroad commissioners for his charter or go without any. Street railway promoters like other promoters, have habits of work and methods which they naturally adopt. Probably a study of street railway construction in recent years would show that comparatively few of the roads built by Mr. Lovell and his associates have been constructed under general laws. The Legislature has been very free in passing street railway charters in the last dozen years, and so long as this policy has been usual, nothing has been thought of it. The Governor's direct demand that these parties go to the railroad commission rather than to the General Court, coupled with the broadening of the powers of the railroad board, has evidently worked a practical revolution in street railroading for the future.

The bill to provide for the construction of a bridge over the Charles river between Newton and Wellesley went to the Governor on Friday last. Representative Dana does not anticipate any very long discussion of the bills in relation to the revision of the corporation laws, which have come from the committee of which he is chairman. As suggested in this correspondence, the matter is of so technical a nature, that the average legislator prefers to trust the judgment of the committee men who have studied it than to attempt to put on amendments which may make a botch of the whole scheme.

The writer was talking with a very prominent man a few days since who expressed great regret that the exigencies of the situation had compelled the side-tracking of Mr. Dana on a technical committee which tied him up day after day when the sessions of the House were going on, thus making it impossible for him to take that active part in the work of constructive legislation that would have been so valuable to the Commonwealth. Of course the gain in securing new corporation laws is expected to offset this loss.

The proceedings of the General Court daily take on a more fragmentary character. The week opened with very short calendars, though the tables still have many matters upon them, and the ways and means committees and other committees like that on counties have matters of secondary reference to report upon. The reign of conference committees has begun, which always is an unmistakable sign of the approaching end of the proceedings. And still, few have any hope of getting out under a fortnight, while it will not be strange if the prorogation ceremonies were delayed a week longer. Conference committees are time consuming devices, and recesses and adjournments to await their decisions are very probable.

On Monday the Senate concurred with the House in accepting the adverse report of the committee on railroads on the question of regulating and reducing fares in the Boston Suburban district. This disposes of this issue for another year.

Yesterday the House took up once more the question of constructing the dam across the Charles river between Boston and Cambridge. A point which complicates the question somewhat is the problem of draining the Back Bay Ponds, but doubtless there will be some way found of accomplishing this desired result through a different sewerage system, that will relieve the river and make the scheme a success.

The Senate is having quite a picnic over the bill to provide an eight hour day for all public employees. A few days ago it was amended so as to exempt employees of penal and charitable institutions, and then the provision that it should apply to cities and towns was stricken out. Now an attempt is to be made to restore it to its original form, but it bodes no good to the bill. An eight hour day in penal institutions would mean three shifts of officers and employees, and this is hardly welcomed by the heads of these institutions, who must always consider economy of maintenance.

The economy of nature demands that the system of man be supplied with sufficient pure water to aid the digestive process, to maintain the equilibrium, depleted by the filter like action of the kidneys and by elimination through the pores of the skin. That craving of the system which manifests itself as thirst, is satisfied by no other means so fully as by drinking pure Rock Water. The tonic properties of this water are united to rare digestive qualities, which aid the stomach in its functions.

"Summer Homes on the Boston & Albany R. R."

Is the title of a 24-page illustrated and descriptive folder issued by the Passenger Department of the Boston & Albany Railroad, containing a complete list of Hotel and Summer Boarding houses along the line of that road, in the Berkshire Hills, and other sections. It is richly illustrated with half-tone cuts of mountains, lake, waterfalls, stage roads, etc., and all prospective summer tourists will find it most interesting.

A copy may be secured by addressing A. S. Hanson, General Passenger Agent, Boston, Mass.

Every one will want to read "The Letters from a Son to His Self-Made Father." They are the answers to the most famous book of the year, "The Letters of a Self-Made Merchant to His Son." The father's letters were wise in their simple philosophy, keen in native wit and eloquent in humor. The son's letters were, and more, for the son inherits all the father's vigor, and with the training of a college education he deftly turns the tables on the old man in a way which should make the father's heart glad. The son's letters are easily the best humor of a decade, and the readers of The Boston Sunday Herald are assured the richest treat of American humor which the last decade has produced. The second letter will appear next Sunday. Every subscriber of this paper should read them.

IDEAL VACATION

There are vacations and vacations. There's the kind that costs from $3 to $5 a day without many comforts and there's the Vermont vacation, which may be enjoyed at modest cost (for from $4 to $10 a week,) in a region where there is to be found more real rest and sensible enjoyment than anywhere else in this part of the world. This is the ideal kind. This summer thousands of delighted visitors will be scattered among the green hills and along the shores of Vermont's matchless lakes and ponds, and, as has been said with more or less truth, every dollar spent in good old Vermont will add a month to the life of the visitor, and a pound of good, healthy flesh to his body. "Summer Homes Among the Green Hills" describes and pictures Vermont's countless attractions. It is a handsomely made book of more than a hundred pages and is sent for 4c. stamp to any address on application to T. H. Hanley, Central Vermont Ry., 360 Washington St., Boston.

Letter to Mayor Weeks,

West Newton.

Dear Sir: You can afford the best, and your business experience has shown you that it is also the cheapest. If all men would learn this, they'd save a lot of money.

Devoe Lead and Zinc costs little more per gallon than mixed paints, but it takes fewer gallons to paint a house, and it wears longer. It is the cheapest paint in the world.

Mr. Frank A. Morse, druggist, of West Rutland, Vt., writes: I ordered 15 gallons of your paint, thinking, from experience, with mixed paints, that it would require that amount to cover my house. I used only 8 gallons.

Mr. M. Austin Beecher of Winthrop, Mass., bought eleven gallons; he only used six.

Our agent at Morrisville, N. Y., Mr. E. N. Dexter, writes:

On every job I have sold, Devoe Lead and Zinc has given good satisfaction and has taken a less quantity than expected.

We could make this letter a hundred times as long with such examples.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devoe & Co.

Tennis.

This year's tournament for the Massachusetts lawn tennis championship will take high place among the events of the year for many reasons. The principal reason is that for the second time in its nine years' existence the veteran challenge bowl will be in danger.

If Beals Wright is successful in the defence this year, the bowl will be his, and will pass out of competition. Should he fail, the trophy will stay, with additional prestige to its reputation as a hoo-doo. The requirements for the possession of the trophy are for three wins, and but one man, other than Wright, ever got two legs on it. Fred Hovey got a leg in each of the first two years' and since then, until Wright's gathering no one player has had more than one.

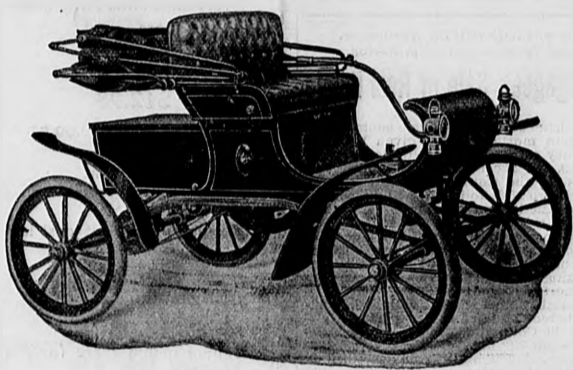

The championship was held in 1894 and 1895 by F. H. Hovey, in 1896 by George L. Wrenn, Jr. in 1897 by Holcombe Ward, in 1898 by L. E. Ware, in 1899 by M. D. Whitman, in 1900 by D. M. Davis and 1901 and 1902 by B. C. Wright. This year Wright will be called upon to defend, and it is very likely that the challenger will be W. J. Clothier, who, it is understood, will enter.

The tournament will be held on June 13, 15 and 17 on the grounds of the Longwood Cricket Club at Longwood. An invitation is extended to all players who are residents of Massachusetts to enter this tournament and it is hoped that players from all parts of the state will compete in order that the tournament may be thoroughly representative.

Play will begin Saturday at 2.30 p. m., and will continue on Monday and Tuesday at 3.30 p. m. and on Wednesday at 10 a. m. All matches except the challenge match will be best two in three advantage sets. The challenge match will be best three in five advantage. Entries will be received up to 4 p. m., Friday, June 12, by R. C. Seaver, care National Bank of Commerce, Boston, to whom also, all communications in regard to the tournament should be addressed.

Dr. I. W. Kingsbury, Harvard 1896, has just passed most successfully the examination at the end of his four years' course at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City. He won the Presbyterian hospital in New York City, and enters upon his professional duties for a two years' term on the 1st of July next. Meanwhile in company with his mother he will rest at Monhegan Island, Me.

Wonderful Cleanliness.

There is an article on the market which certainly is without a peer as a cleaner, especially a "spring cleaner." We refer to that wonderful purifier Cabot's Sulpho-Naphthol. What a blessing to be rid of all the cheap, inferior deodorants which supplemented spring cleaning. What a saving of time, money and annoyance to have a cleaner (Sulpho-Naphthol) with disinfecting germ killing as well as deodorizing or destroying properties. What a feeling of safety, for the old articles let the work of disease producing organisms go on unnoticed under their strong odors. Sulpho-Naphthol destroys the germs and their deadly productions.

Death of Mrs. Saltonstall.

Mrs. Rose Lee Saltonstall, widow of Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, died Sunday after a several years illness, at her home on Chestnut Hill road. Mrs. Saltonstall was a native of Salem, and her parents were John C. and Harriett (Paline) Lee. She was married to Mr. Saltonstall on Oct. 19, 1854, and the family home has been at Chestnut Hill for almost fifty years. Mrs. Saltonstall is survived by four children; Mr. Richard M. and Alderman Endicott P. Saltonstall, both well known lawyers; Mr. Philip L. Saltonstall, prominent in local banking circles, and Mrs. Louis A. Shaw. Mrs. Saltonstall was sixty-nine years of age. Funeral services were held from the North church in Salem Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The service was conducted by the Rev. Edward Hale of the Chestnut Hill Unitarian church, with which Mrs. Saltonstall was connected, and the music was by the choir of the Second church, Boston. They sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Rest in the Lord," "Abide With Me" and "Paradise Lost." The bearers were Francis W. Lee, Gen. Francis Peabody, Jr., Leverett S. Tuckerman, George C. Lee, Jr., and Robert Saltonstall. The burial was in Harmony Grove cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Parks.

Died in Newton, June 3, Mrs. Frances E. Parks, wife of Mr. Thomas C. Parks and daughter of Daniel G. and Susan B. Rollins of Somersworth, N. H.

She was born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1825, spent her girlhood at the old homestead, was married in 1850, and removed in 1869 to Newton, the home of her early ancestry. Her frequent visits to Somersworth served to keep her keenly alive to all pertaining to its interests, and although for the past two years physical weakness made it impossible for her to carry out her purposes, her heart turned longingly toward "home," until she became unconscious.

Mrs. Parks was a woman of rare intelligence and refinement; these gifts added to a hospitable nature won to her a circle of choice friends, who through her long illness testified to the loyalty of their affection by the most tender and constant attentions. Hopeful always, and cheerful even under the greatest sufferings, patiently bearing her burden day by day, she drew nearer the end and fell asleep, the sleep that knows no waking.

Rev. Dr. Davis, the pastor of Eliot church, of which for many years she was a most consistent member, officiated at the funeral service at her late residence, Thursday afternoon. Interment was at Somersworth, N. H., on Friday.

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R.

Again the Sarah Hull Chapter enjoyed the generous hospitality of the Regent, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, as on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 2nd, she opened her grounds for their pleasure and that of the Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters. The perfection of weather for out door festivities crowned the efforts of those members who had aided in the preparation, and in decorating the verandas and tables with the national colors, the red, white and blue, as well as the colonial buff and blue, in flags, bunting, ribbons and flowers. The regent, with her daughters, Mrs. Warren and Miss Stanley received the guests, and after a social half hour, Mrs. Stanley favored the company with a very interesting account of the social phase of the annual meeting of the General Society, recently held in New York. At the close she announced that next year this meeting would be held in Boston, so all Massachusetts Daughters may attend, and improve the opportunity to reciprocate the cordial hospitality extended by the New York Chapters.

Mrs. Hornbroke read for the benefit of the members, the address written for the presentation to the Newton schools, of a library containing books of revolutionary interest, which were given by the Sarah Hull Chapter. She spoke of the purpose of the donors, the circumstances which led to the gift, and hoped the future would show that the good use made of them would testify to the value in which they shall be held by the pupils.

Mrs. Heath, Massachusetts State Regent, and Mrs. Ferris, Honorary Chapter Regent, endorsed cordially Mrs. Stanley's report, and added their word of inspiration and stimulus. Later a half hour of fun was enjoyed in the way of conundrums, anecdote, short stories, and two original poems, contributed by the members. Refreshments were served from several tables by the younger members and their friends, their bright and tasteful costumes adding to the attractiveness of the grounds. A fine graphophone was loaned and gave pleasure to many. A hurdy hurdy, piping, croquet entered tained others, so the general fiat was that this had been one of the best of the many pleasant gatherings of this Chapter.

Street Railway Matters

A hearing was held before the Railroad Commissioners Wednesday forenoon, for the board's approval of a relocation of tracks granted by the Newton aldermen for the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Company's line on Boylston street, Newton Highlands. This is over about a hundred feet of Boylston street, where the Commonwealth avenue's original location was covered by the trestle on which the Boston & Worcester Street Railway was enabled to secure passage for its cars across the railroad without a grade crossing. The new location for the Commonwealth avenue road is in the middle of Boylston street, parallel to the trestle. The Commonwealth Avenue Company appeared through W. H. Coolidge in opposition to the approval of the new location, taking the ground that the aldermen, in granting it, had imposed a new condition on the company by inserting a clause that it should grant free transfers to intersecting lines. As it intersects the line of the Boston & Worcester at Newton Highlands, that clause would require it to give free transfers to the Boston & Worcester cars. It now has no transfer arrangement with that road, although, like other companies included within the Newton combination, it gives free transfers already with companies in its own group. If this clause were allowed to hold good, both the Commonwealth avenue and the Boston & Worcester would be in the position of being required by the terms of franchises to give free transfers each to the other, but neither would be in the same way required to accept the transfer issued by the other. Interesting questions which arise out of that situation are held to be outside the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, and will therefore in time be likely to go to the courts, unless the companies chose to arrange a settlement between themselves.

Marked: "What Better Present for a June Bride."

A 11-4 Full Size All Wool Blanket for $4.49 Each.

If you saw it I'll warrant you thought: Well, they must be hard up for something to put in the windows.

Not so at all. The case stands like this: We ordered a large quantity of Blankets on December 15th, 1902, for the fall trade of 1903, to be delivered at the convenience of the manufacturer. The first shipment arrived Wednesday, but we don't have to pay for them until next October. So it struck us we would be doing something pretty bright if we could dispose of a hundred pair or so of these Blankets at a little advance of cost and turn the money so received over once or twice before paying for the Blankets.

A Picturesque Out of Door Presentation On West Newton Hill.

A Largely Attended Society Event For the Benefit of the Newton Hospital.

The beautiful estate of Captain Albert C. Warren at the junction of Chestnut and Highland streets, West Newton hill, was thronged with society folk from all over the city last Saturday afternoon. The occasion was an out of door fete conducted by representative ladies of Newton for the benefit of the Kitchen Fund of the Newton Hospital. The grounds were enclosed with canvas walls and guarded by the police.

Within there was a grab bag booth in charge of Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt and Mrs. C. L. Weaver. In another part of the grounds an ice cream booth with tete a tete tables, in charge of Mrs. F. P. Barnes was liberally patronized. There was a crowd all the afternoon around the candy table and Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, Mrs. J. P. Tolman, Miss Mary Colby, Mrs. H. G. Pratt, Mrs. J. T. Lodge, Miss Mary Nickerson, Mrs. C. H. Breck and Mrs. C. M. Boyd were busy indeed.

An old fashioned well, dispensing lemonade was in charge of the Misses Mary Howland, Mary Bullivant, Madge Lovell, Carrie Lovett, Helen Freeman, Carrie Spear and Ruth Richards. Programs were sold by the Misses Margaret and Martha Haskell. A side show of Alice in Wonderland given by Theodore York, Ernest Weaver, Frank Converse, Lucius Wheeler, Edward Tuttle, Melanice Murdoch and Tommy Coburn, under direction of Miss Margaret MacL. Eager and Miss Carrie Freeman was crowded at each of its two performances.

The principal event of the afternoon was the presentation of the Pied Piper of Hamelin under the direction of Miss Eager. A portion of the lawn with an effective background of trees and shrubbery served as a stage and 1000 reserved seats were filled and many standing, so large was the audience. The orchestra was hidden behind a screen of greenery. The cast was composed of about 150 young people and children and the cast, Eleanor Low, brought round after round of applause, two cores being demanded. The two children delighted the audience and indeed, the stage business of Tommy Coburn throughout the play deserves the highest praise.

The dance of the piper and the roses was the most beautiful feature of the program. The girls were dressed to represent flowers, wearing muslin dresses of pink, yellow, blue, or red with green petals on the skirts and carrying half hoops over their heads with flowers of the same color as the dress. The marching away of the children after the piper, leaving the lame boy and lone rat to mourn together, was followed by a tableau of the children in another part of the grounds.

The cast was as follows:

The Piper, George Kimball
Mayor, Frank Nagle
Court Jester, Edwin Richards
Cook, James Hunting

RESIDENCE OF A. C. WARREN.

the affair was most creditable to all concerned.

Some of the girls wore Marguerite costumes, black laced bodice over white, skirts of blue, red, green or pink, white aprons and caps. Others wore white skirts with colored aprons and caps. A bevy of larger children had blue bodices over white, blue skirts and yellow aprons and caps. The boys were dressed in colored velvet knee suits, white blouses and velvet caps. The young ladies were dressed as shepherdesses and looked as charming as if they had just stepped out of Dresden china.

The grouping of those participating was most effective against the background of green and the dancing was interesting and beautiful.

A procession led by the court jester began the performance, part of the children following with a dance and chorus. This was interrupted by an assault by the rats, dressed in gray nondescript costumes, who drove the children away and were in turn driven back to their holes. A song by Gretchen and a dance by the Market women followed, the rats again driving the dancers back. The cook's dance and song was very good, as was the first peasant dance which followed. A lullaby by Katrina, and a doll in a cradle then occupied the centre of the lawn. The rats attacked the cradle and doll and furnished fun for the audience.

The entrance of the mayor and council was most imposing. They were attired in long red gowns, trimmed with black and wore red caps. The mayor had a stomach of true aldermanic proportions and their dancing (and kicking) was encored again and again.

The piper first made his appearance at the entrance of a cave at the extreme left of the lawn and his singing was excellent. The calling of the rats, and their march to destruction was depicted by an exit over a wall followed by a splash of water for each. The final chorus and dance of Act I was very well done, the movements of the dancers bringing about kaleidoscopic changes of color.

Act 2 began with an elaborate and beautiful dance by the shepherdesses, which was hardly appreciated. The jester's song of Fiddle de Dee, assisted by the lone rat and the littlest girl in

There was a large attendance at the missionary meeting held under the auspices of the Young People's Society at the Immanuel Baptist church last Sunday evening. The parish and Sunday school of Channing church will hold a picnic at Lexington park tomorrow.

Financial.

There is an utter absence of buying orders, and the bears appear to have the situation under their control. Many things have happened during the past two weeks to discourage investors from making commitments, and while it is admitted that many of the dividend paying securities are very cheap, lack of support had discouraged all inclination to make purchases.—Curtis and Sederquist.

Vehement selling of the market, inspired by various motives has lately been the fashion of the Street. Factional fights among the financial barons and the redeeming of past speculative excesses by new-fledged millionaires have been the chief immediate occasions for furthering the decline.

Bad blood in high places is usually cupped before too apoplectic a situation results; it is only peace that is profitable—and magnates, like smaller fry, prefer profits to losses. As for the western plungers, they are letting go to the shrewd banking interests the securities which the latter sold them at fancy figures eight or ten months ago, and the bankers et al., aforesaid, have still to market these wares, a task for which they are well experienced.

But these are contrivances on the market called destructors, which seem to obviate all these difficulties. In these, the garbage is placed on a grate between two very hot fires. The fires do not connect directly with the chimney, and the gases passing from the burning garbage are subjected in such a very high temperature before they can escape that they are directly converted into steam. No odors for the benefit of the neighborhood. There are some 30 kinds of these destructors on the market and in some form or other, they are in

The exhibitions have created favorable comment among those who have witnessed the feats of daring and skill which are shown at every performance. The day after to-morrow the troupe will be seen at the theatres and will be popular with the ladies and children, and every one should make it a point to bring the children to see this, the greatest exhibition of its kind in the world.

Our recent editorial opposing further extravagance in school buildings seems to have struck a responsive chord in the large body of our taxpayers. Since then we have learned of a wealthy gentleman who was much pleased with our city, and thought seriously of making it his permanent residence, until an inquiry as to our tax rate, determined him to settle in Brookline, where the higher price of real estate was more than offset by the lower tax rate.

Such instances teach us that the utmost economy should be practised in city affairs. About the heaviest items in the city tax levy are those for sinking funds and interest on our debt, and there is naturally a strong feeling that any further additions to the already large debt should be discouraged. To a certain extent this is true, but when a necessary and permanent improvement has been determined upon, the only remaining alternative is to charge the cost directly to the tax levy of the current year. This entails upon the taxpayers of that year,
the entire cost of an improvement which the future will use more than the present.

Approximately every $6000 added to the tax levy raises the tax rate ten cents per $1000 on the present valuation, and it does not take many items of this size to entirely wipe out the natural increase arising from the additional valuations found each year.

To our mind the question of placing the entire burden of a permanent improvement upon the taxpayers of any one year, and the consequent discouragement given to possible future residents thereby, is greater than the small annual increase in the sinking fund and interest accounts by charging the cost to bond issues of ten or twenty years.

It is possible to compromise these questions by paying for all future improvements in short time, serial bonds, a method which will spread the cost over a series of years, thereby lessening the expense to the taxpayers of the initial year, and at a small increase in the interest appropriation.

These questions are of vital interest to Newton and a definite policy ought to be adopted by the city government. This year is a particularly favorable time, as the city fortunately has a mayor and board of aldermen peculiarly fitted for the task and the outcome of their deliberations would undoubtedly form a precedent for the future.

Float Night at Riverside

It was float night at Riverside
Tuesday evening, and the foreboding clouds withheld themselves sufficiently to allow the occupants of the thousand or more canoes on the river to participate in the celebration undisturbed. The showers of the early afternoon had not enhanced the decorations and the dampness did not add to the combustibility of the colored fire which was liberally burned along the banks, but the crowd was there, the Suburban Mandolin and Guitar Club and the Arlington Boat Glee Club were on hand to make merry, and the participants readily forgot that the night was not an ideal one for water festivities. It was after eleven o'clock when the last canoe had disappeared from the river, the rain beginning to come down just as the happy young people were starting for home.

MECCA FOR TOURISTS.

MANY ATTRACTIONS OF BEAUTIFUL BUR-LINGTON ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Burlington, overlooking Lake Champlain, is recognized as a leading tourist and summer resort, of unequalled location. Its attractions embrace the dry, antiseptic air of the Adirondacks, and the Green Mountains of Vermont, the superb panoramic views in every direction from the summit of the hill on which the city is built, idyllic walks and drives, beautiful parks in the shade of the woods on the lake front, boating, yachting and splendid fishing. Fort Edgar Allen, the largest United States Cavalry Post in the east, is close by with its social attractions, dress parade, music and drills. A visit to Ausable Chasm, one of nature's marvels, requires but a half hour sail across the lake and day excursions by steamer to the United States Military Post at Plattsburg, to the historic remains of the forts at Crown Point and Ticonderoga and the picturesque islands of Lake Champlain, give one plenty of interesting sight-seeing opportunities. With its first-class hotels and frequent train and steamer service, Burlington, is indeed a most convenient stopping point for tourists making the trip in either direction between Boston and the resorts of Lake Champlain, Lake George, the Adirondacks, Canada and the West. The Central Vermont route to Burlington combines the best and fastest train service with the most charming scenic views in New England. It operates three fast express trains daily between the metropolis of New England and the queen city of Vermont. A description of this summer paradise with many fine half-tone pictures is given in "Summer Homes Among the Green Hills," and for 4 cent stamp on application to T. H.
Hanley, N. E. P. A., Central Vermont Ry., 360 Washington St., Boston.

valuable publications, and every school child should read it, and also

The facts are that Mr. Coolidge took the occasion to state rather emphatically that the Company would not agree to any locations which would entail free transfers with the Worcester Company, but added that he would not oppose the matter then before the board.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Examinations for admission to the High school will be held at the High school building, Newtonville, Monday and Tuesday, June 22nd and 23d, beginning at 8.30 a. m.

On the Lowell avenue grounds at Newtonville last Friday, Newton High school boys gave its annual outdoor drill. All the various manoeuvres and manual orders were carried out with snap and finish. In the company and individual competitions a particularly fine showing was made, and considerable difficulty was experienced by the judges in selecting those qualified to receive prizes.

The exercises began at 2.30 with a regimental formation directed by Maj. Alexander Macomber. This was followed by three company competitions, the contestants being company B., Capt. R. W. McPhee; company F., Capt. Allen Bacon, and company E., Capt. H. F. Tilton.

The signal corps then took the field, and under the direction of Lieut. C. W. Gammons successfully wiggled and telegraphed a number of messages. Three more company competitions followed, the companies being company A., Capt. Corning Benton; company C., Capt. S. R. Very, and company D., Capt. R. M. McLellan.

Close upon the competitions came an excellent exhibition by the artillery squad under Sergt. B. T. Stephenson. The individual competition brought out 25 candidates, Adj. M. S. Kimball being in charge. The entire battalion under Maj. A. R. Beese took part in the evening parade, and the boys in their neat blue and white uniforms made a pretty spectacle. The program was closed with the awarding of prizes by F. H. Tucker of the school board as follows:

First prize, company competition—Won by company D. (a sword for Capt. R. M. McLellan, and gold medals for Lieutenants Early and Bellamy.) Second prize, company competition—Won by company F. (a blue marker flag for Capt. Allen Bacon and silver medals for Lieutenants Carey and Knight.)

First prize, individual competition—Won by Sergt. Donald Nicholson, (gold medal.) Second prize, silver medal—Won by Sergt. Charles Lyford.

Honorable mentions, bronze medals—Won by company F. (a blue marker flag for Capt. Allen Bacon and silver medals for Lieutenants Carey and Knight.)

The judges were Lieut.-Col. George B. Benyon, assistant inspector-general, M. V. M.; Maj. Harry P. Ballard, assistant inspector-general, 2d brigade, M. V. M.; Lieut. Thomas E. Wye, company C, 5th infantry, M. V. M.

The last meeting of the Academy Debating Club will be held this afternoon in the lecture hall.

Edward H. Dennison Dead.

Edward H. Dennison a resident of Homer street, Newton Centre, and for many years a member of the firm of Golding & Co., manufacturers of printing machinery, at 183 High street, Boston, died Tuesday evening at the Eliot hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

He was born in Gloucester, 67 years ago, and when a young man came to Boston and entered the employ of the Boston Courier. He remained there several years, leaving to establish the firm of Golding & Co., in which enterprise he was associated with William H. Golding, also a resident of this city. Since 1870 he had been an active member of the concern, having charge of its financial affairs.

For the past 12 years he had lived with his family at 154 Homer street, Newton Centre. A wife and one daughter survive him.

The Boston Herald began on Sunday last the publication of "The Filigree Ball," by Anna Katherine Green, the author of "The Leavenworth Case." It is a picturesque and romantic story of deep mystery and one which will interest readers everywhere. "The Letters from a Son to His Self-Made Father" were continued, as were the humorous contributions of Simeon Ford and R. G. McCordell. McCluskey made his bow to Boston Herald readers, and at once made an impression. This array of talent in story and humor will continue in The Sunday Herald of June 14, and together with a great variety of new matter the forth coming issue will take another step in the advance movement now under way. Never in the history of this great paper has there been shown the progressive spirit which now dominates it, and readers who are overlooking The Sunday Herald are playing truant to their best interests. It is a paper which should be in every home. It always leads, and never imitates.

TO THE VETERANS.

Dignified Address by Congressman Powers.

At Union Services in Anburndale On Memorial Sunday.

Mr. Commander and Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic:

I regard myself very fortunate to be permitted to join you today in paying tribute to the memory of your comrades for their heroic sacrifice in defense of the Republic.

Thus far the human race has not faltered in its devotion to the soldier. Each year travelers by the thousands continue to make pilgrimages to the battlefield of Marathon, to do reverence to the Greek soldier who fell in battle more than two thousand years ago. Of the myriads of English worthies there are no names quite so dear to the Briton's heart as those of Marlborough, Nelson and Wellington. The French people refused to be consoled until the body of their greatest military genius and hero was removed from St. Helena and given a permanent resting place in the capital of the French nation. The American people will never cease to visit and revisit the tomb at Mount Vernon and that upon the banks of the Hudson, nor will they ever falter in their worship of the memory of the great leader of the armies of the American Revolution, and that great military genius of the Civil War.

I have recently noticed that certain foreign critics, possibly viewing with some jealousy the marvelous march of the American people in industrial progress, have taken occasion to characterize us as materialistic and lacking in those feelings of sentiment which they claim are common to the people of the older nations of Europe. To my mind nothing could be farther from the truth. There are no people more deeply imbued with patriotic sentiment than our own. Every epoch and crisis in our national history has become indelibly impressed upon the American mind. We make our pilgrimages to Plymouth that we may stand upon the shore and view the rock which nearly three centuries ago was pressed by Pilgrims' feet, seeking these shores in pursuit of religious and civil liberty. We visit Faneuil Hall that we may stand within the walls which once echoed to the voices of Otis and Sam Adams, in protest against the encroachments of the Crown, and in behalf of political liberty, for the Colonists. We love to stand upon Lexington Green and at Concord Bridge, where the Revolutionary patriots shed their first blood in the great contest for independence, and we make the journey to Yorktown that we may stand upon the soil of the last battlefield of our forefathers' struggle for independence and liberty, where the sunlight of freedom finally dispelled the last cloud of doubt, and baptized a new-born nation.

The reading of our memorable Declaration of Independence, breathing forth as it does the spirit of defiance, and announcing the foundation principles of human liberty, continues to enthuse and inspire each new generation of our people. The impassioned speeches of Patrick Henry and Otis and Adams, the great Revolutionary orators, are to our school children just as inspiring as they were to those of the generation immediately after the close of the Revolution. Lincoln's speech on the battlefield of Gettysburg, in the beauty of its diction and charm of expression, the equal of the famous orations of Pericles, will ever continue to inspire the youth of America with its sublime patriotism, and impress upon them the lasting obligations due to you and your comrades.

One day, at least, in every year, the great American people cease from toil, the wheels of material progress stand still, and deep patriotic sentiment rules the hour. The day that has been set apart by a grateful, loving people, comes to us in the season when the earth gives forth in profusion the flower and blossom and vine, the choicest emblems for the expression of human affection and gratitude. This is one of the days upon which we turn aside from what our European friends would term the materialistic side of our nature, and yield to those strong impulses of sentiment which never fail to control the patriotic feelings of our people when their minds dwell upon the great civil conflict which put in peril the life of the Nation.

One thing is very evident, and that is that time has not dimmed the great crisis and the great events of the Civil War. Each year we marvel more and more at the magnitude of that conquest; each year the reverence and devotion for the memory of those who took part in that struggle become deeper and more general.

You recall the storm cloud of war that broke with all its fury and gloom above peaceful New England, paralyzing the great industries of peace, and rending asunder the ties of social and domestic happiness. You recall how after the first shock, the loyalty of the North leaped forth like a giant to the defense of the Nation—how men forgot the lines of parties and the creeds of church, and united for a common purpose, which was the defense of the Union of the States. "The bugle and drum rang out in every neighborhood; the plow stood still in the furrow, the hammer dropped from the anvil, book and pen were forgotten; pulpit, forum, court and shop felt the electric shock."

In less than eighteen months from the commencement of hostilities we flooded a navy of more than 600 vessels, and closed every southern port. At the expiration of the same period we had under arms and in active service nearly a million of men. In the four years that followed the fall of Sumter we contributed to the armies of the Union nearly three millions of soldiers, one eighth of our entire population, or one in four of our male population. Massachusetts, with a male population of 92,000, furnished for the cause of the Union 152,000 soldiers, or as many as were raised by the entire country during the War of 1812. When you contemplate the fact that one in every eight of our entire population, or one in every four of our male population, was actually engaged in that contest, you get some idea of the enthusiasm and steady loyalty of the men of the North. In the entire military history of the world there is nothing to be compared with that martial enthusiasm of our people. The celebrated uprising of the French people in 1793, and that of nearly a century later, in their war with Germany, sink into insignificance when compared with the tide that moved southward to join the armies of the Union.

One who was among the first to tender his services to the cause of the Union, and who served with distinguished credit throughout the Civil War, used the following vivid language in painting the scene so common throughout the North directly after the outbreak of the Civil War: "The past rises before me like a dream. Again we are in the great struggle for national life. We hear the sounds of preparation—the music of boisterous drums—the silver voices of heroic bugles. We see thousands of assemblages, and hear the appeals of orators; we see the pale cheeks of women and the flushed cheeks of men; and in those assemblages we see all the dead whose dust we have covered with flowers. We lose sight of them no more. We are with them when they enlist in the great army of freedom. We see them part with those they love. Some are walking for the last time in quiet woody places with the maidens they adore. We hear the whisperings and the sweet vows of eternal love as they lingeringly part forever. Others are bending over cradles, kissing babies that are asleep. Some are receiving the blessings of old men. Some are parting with mothers, who hold them and press them to their hearts again and again, and say nothing; and some are talking with wives, and endeavoring with brave words spoken in the old tones to drive from their hearts the awful fear. We see them part. We see the wife standing in the door with the babe in her arms, standing in the sunlight sobbing; at the turn of the road a hand waves; she answers by holding high in her loving hands the child. He is gone, and forever."

The war in which you engaged was one, not to defend liberty, not to acquire territory, not to gain glory, but to preserve the unity of the States, and the fair fame of this rising republic. Well might you have said, what difference does it make to me whether this country contains two republics or one? Your home and family were not in danger; your property and liberty were not in peril; no hostile foe had invaded the soil of your commonwealth, and the emancipation of the slaves was not then an issue in the conflict. You were called upon to offer up your lives in a cause that in no way affected your personal interests. Your blood was shed in defense of a great principle, and not in defense of personal freedom. It was for you to say whether or not the American Republic, as founded by the fathers, should stand or fall. You were to decide whether or not you would rend asunder the social and commercial ties that bound you to the people of the South, and meet them on the field of battle in defense of the principles of republican institutions. For eighteen centuries the experiment of a permanent free government had proven a failure—it was for you to say whether it could be made a success. The best military critics of Europe were of the opinion that it was folly for the North to attempt to suppress the rebellion. The fifteen slave-holding states had a population at the commencement of the war of more than sixteen millions. All but four of these states seceded, and those that failed to vote in favor of secession furnished men in large numbers, and contributed liberally of their means to the cause of disunion. The seceding states occupied a territory with an area of more than 800,000 square miles—as large as the German Empire, France, Spain, Portugal, Belgium and Holland combined, or more than twelve times the entire area of all the English-speaking States, and nearly one hundred times the area of the state of Massachusetts. They possessed a wealth of six billions, or two-fifths of the entire wealth of the nation. Of the 30,000 miles of railroad in operation in 1861, 10,000 or one-third, was controlled by the Confederate States. Their territory possessed, in a wonderful degree, the means for a successful defensive warfare. Their coast line extended from Cape Henry to the Rio Grande. They were the great producers of cotton, the staple crop of the world. The people of Europe stood ready to exchange with them all the necessary munition of war for the products of their soil. They maintained friendly and important commercial relations with all the nations of the globe.

At the outbreak of the rebellion, the North had an army of less than sixteen thousand men, scattered throughout the states and territories. She had no navy—there being but one vessel pronounced worthy for naval service. Can you contemplate a military task more difficult and less hopeful than the one imposed on the soldier of the union in the spring of 1861? The loyal states, with a population of nineteen millions, were undertaking to subjugate twelve millions of people, occupying a territory with an area twelve times larger than that of all the New England States combined, and maintaining commercial relations with all the great maritime powers of the world. It was not, however, enthusiasm alone that characterized the men of the North. In courage and efficiency they were the equal of any soldiers of modern times. In less than four years that army took part in more than two thousand engagements, in one hundred and fifty of which its loss exceeded that of the American army at Bunker Hill. Its campaigns were carried on in a climate to which the greater majority of our soldiers were unaccustomed, and in a country possessing great advantages for defensive operations. It opposed an army possessed of courage, enthusiasm and endurance, derived from a common inheritance, and fighting with desperation, in the false belief that they were defending home and liberty against a heartless enemy.

In six battles of our war the loss upon one side or the other exceeded that of Wellington and the allied forces at Waterloo; and the loss of the Union army alone in the battle of the Wilderness nearly equalled the entire loss of both armies on the field of that famous European engagement. During the four years of that conflict more than three hundred thousand Union soldiers went down to their graves—one in every nine of the nearly three million patriots enrolled in the armies of the Union gave his life to his country.

We cannot pay proper tribute to the soldiers of the Union, and at the same time withhold just recognition of the brave men who met them on so many hard fought fields. The true soldier never stints the praise due to courage. The men we fought were American citizens. They possessed the courage and spirit which since the days of the Revolution have characterized the men of the South. Their military leaders were able, experienced and trusted; they fought with a conviction that their cause was just, and in the mistaken belief that they were defending liberty and home against the tyranny of the invader. Their arms were never with ambition to create a republic of their own, under the protection of which slavery would be secure. They saw in the future, independence, wealth, power. Like every people, struggling for separation and independence, they fought desperately. The ragged, starving remnant of a once magnificent army which Lee surrendered at Appomattox is the best evidence of the heroic endurance and true courage of the men of the South.

None of us believe in war. It should never be entered upon except from the highest motives, and where the advantages to humanity are likely to far outweigh the misery and burden of warfare. But this I think is true—that there never has been a war where the benefits to the nation and humanity are to be compared to those of our Civil War. Suppose the armies of the North had not prevailed—what would have been the result? A divided nation—two republics instead of one, one defending the legal and moral right to own slaves—the other strongly opposed to that doctrine; one believing in the aristocracy of wealth, and regarding manual labor as dishonorable—the other believing that all men should be free and equal before the law, and that honest free labor was entitled to the highest regard. It is very evident that two nations so diametrically opposed upon all questions so vital to the existence of social order and government, could not have lived side by side without sooner or later reviving open hostilities. If the war had resulted favorably to the South, the path to a higher civilization, to an ideal national life, to the elevation of humanity, would have been practically closed to the American people.

But the war resulted in a final victory to the armies of the Union. Now, what are some of the permanent benefits which are directly traceable to your triumph? In the first place the Union was saved; not one star was effaced from the flag. The irrepressible conflict over slavery, which for a half century had agitated the country was settled for all time, and human slavery, the bane of our national existence, was forever banished. All men stood free and equal under the sunlight of liberty. Again, the war developed a spirit of magnanimity such as the world had never before witnessed. The victors breathed forth the spirit of forgiveness to the vanquished, and reached out a helping hand to the fallen foe. When Lee tendered his sword to Grant at Appomattox the victorious general bade him return it to its scabbard, and permitted all the prisoners of war, upon taking the oath of allegiance, to return to their southern homes, with their horses and mules, saying that they would need them for the spring plowing. That war proved to the world the value and efficiency of the citizen soldier. I am speaking within bounds when I say that the army of the union, at the close of the war, was measured by efficiency, by courage, and intelligence, the best the world has ever seen. The marvellous task it accomplished is sufficient proof of that statement. No one who saw that army march in review at Washington in the spring of 1865 could for one moment doubt that it was the greatest army the world had ever seen. A million of men, hardened by service in the field, and bronzed by southern suns, was turning its face northward and homeward. "God knew that that day was stupendous, and he cleared the heaven of cloud and mist and chill, and sprung the blue sky as the triumphal arch for the returning warriors to pass under. From Arlington Heights the spring foliage shook out its welcome as the hosts came over the hills, and the sparkling waters of the Potomac tossed their gold to the feet of the battalions as they came to the Long Bridge, and in almost interminable line passed over their bayonets caught in the sun, glimmered and flashed and blazed until they seemed like one long river of silver, ever and anon changing into a river of fire."

Human eyes never before rested upon a scene of such grandeur and power and significance. It was not an army like the victorious Roman legions, returning to Rome bearing the fruits of victory, for our army brought no prisoners of war, and no trophies from the fields of battle—but it brought with it something far more important to a distressed people—it brought peace, permanent peace, to a shattered nation. Its smoke blackened flags were the emblem of Virginia as well as of Massachusetts—not a star defaced nor dimmed. Its veteran host, a million strong, skilled in the art of war, irresistible in its power, had turned its face Northward with the dawn of peace. Its masterful, marvellous task was done, and it melted away into a great mass of the people from which it had sprung, the soldier resuming the arts of peace as readily as he had those of war, and bending every energy to repair the terrible waste and drain of the conflict.

With the close of the war this republic entered upon its career of greatness and glory. It manifestly met every just financial obligation growing out of the war. It recognized the everlasting obligation due the soldier for his service in preserving the life of the nation. It saw more plainly than ever before the necessity of educating the masses, and the States cooperated with the national government in the rapid development of our system of education, upon which the safety of the nation is so greatly dependent. Our industrial progress during the past thirty years has been the marvel of the world. Our population at the close of the war was thirty millions; it is now eighty millions. Our national wealth in 1865 was about twenty billions; now it is more than ninety billions. The South has kept pace with the North in this marvellous march of material progress. All the conditions of life have wonderfully improved. Today the people are better housed, better fed, better clothed, and better educated than any other in the world. We exercise a greater influence in the affairs of the world than any other people. Nothing is truer than that oft quoted expression that the United States is a world power. It is a power that is to control the destinies of the Western Hemisphere, and is to exercise a most potent influence in all decisions regarding the future welfare of the millions who inhabit the countries in the Orient.

You veterans have a right to be proud of the service rendered by you and your comrades. You determined the destiny of this republic; you changed the course of history, and turned the tide of human events in a new channel, ever broadening and deepening in its course, toward a higher civilization and a broader humanity.

O'Connell, the great Irish orator, speaking for his native country, said: "It is a country worth fighting for; it is a country worth dying for." That was the sentiment that actuated you throughout the terrible struggle from '61 to '65.

You veterans who now look back over nearly two score of years since the hour of triumph, must feel that with increasing age come increasing gratitude and glory. "Time and the sword have thinned your ranks," but they have not lessened your fame. While the Republic endures, your deeds will not be forgotten. You are veterans of nearly half a century, yet how vivid to you today is the struggle that gave you your fame! Once more you are on the tented field, or tossing in your iron castle on the deep. Again you walk your weary beat beneath the silent stars of Southern skies. Hunger and thirst, heat and cold, the weary march, disease, wounds, death, rise up before you like troubled spirits of the vivid past. You recall the terrible suspense of impending battle, when your thoughts were riveted on your dear Northern home, the aged father or mother, the loving, anxious wife, the prattling children talking of your return. You feel again the impetuous charge when no thoughts but of country and victory possessed you, as you heroically faced the deadly tempest of shot and shell. You awake as from a troubled dream to find yourselves in peaceful New England, surrounded by relatives and friends, and the recipients of the heartfelt gratitude of your countrymen. But alas for those valiant comrades whose dream is the dream of death! Their bright visions, on the morn of battle, of home, of parents, of wife and children, faded before the sun went down. Some of you saw them as they heroically met death at Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg and The Wilderness. Today they live again in the memory and gratitude of the Nation. This day that myriad host passes in silent review before you; each succeeding year its lines lengthen as yours shorten. In a few years at most the last survivor will join his waiting comrades. May the Father of all mercies spare your lives to enjoy the ripe fruits of your labors and witness for many years the increasing glory of the Republic which your heroism defended and your blood purified.

Letter to P. A. Murray,

Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir: Everybody considers painting a necessary nuisance, and you are probably no exception.

You can't abolish it altogether; but you can make it come half as often, and cost only two-thirds as much each time, and have your house look better all the time.

Everybody knows that the seashore is hard on paint. The Farrington residence at Rockland, Maine, a sea-coast town, was painted with Devco seventeen years ago. The house has never been repainted, and seems to be well painted yet.

If you want to take the trouble to be convinced, we can send you a hundred other instances; but none so striking as this.

This is not all. Devco Lead and Zinc not only wears longer, but it paints more square feet to the gallon than any other paint—especially mixed paints. It is the "Fewer gallons; wears longer" paint.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devco &amp; Co.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Claims of Mill Owners on Charles River Settled For $15,000.

Chief Tarbox's Automobile Exploits Approved—Last Meeting of The Season.

At the regular, and what proved to be the last meeting for the season of the board of aldermen last Monday evening, President Weed was in the chair, and Aldermen Baker, Barber, Bowen, Brown, Carter, Chesley, F. A. Day, H. B. Day, Dennison, Ellis, Hubbard, Hunt, Johnson, Lathrop, Mellen, Norris, Saltonstall, Sweeney and Webster were also present.

A communication from the Mayor recommending a settlement with the mill owners on Charles river for water taken from the river in excess of the agreement made in 1879 for the sum of $15,000 was referred to the Committee on Finance.

A report from the City Engineer submitting schedule of sewer assessments was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

PETITIONS

Petitions of J. F. Lucey et al for street watering on Middle street; of H. H. Bemis et al for street watering on Old Orchard road; of G. F. Jewett for a sewer in Summit street were referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Petition of W. I. Mabie et al relative to betterment assessments on Hammond brook was referred to the Committee on Claims.

A communication from F. B. Kendall and remonstrance from C. E. Adams et al against the smoke nuisance from the street railway power plant on Homer street, petitions of Orazio Colalucci and of Domenico Fasoli for street musicians licenses, of Edw. Johnson for a Common Victuallers' license, Auburn street, were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises, etc.

Petitions of the Telephone Co. for pole locations on Cherry and Centre streets, and for attachments on Walnut, Chestnut streets and Webster park were referred to the same committee, hearings being ordered thereon for Sept. 10.

Petitions of H. H. Tilton & Co for license to manufacture fireworks, and of C. H. Campbell for a gunpowder license were referred to the same committee but later withdrawn and granted without reference.

Samuel W. Tucker was granted a renewal of his Auctioneers' license on motion of Alderman H. B. Day.

An order appropriating $5775 for interest was referred to the Finance Committee and a recess taken to allow of committee meeting.

Upon reassembling the following committee reports were received: FINANCE: Recommending grant of $246,419.15 for city expenses to Sept. 15; recommending transfer of $100 from State Aid to Military Aid; approving sewer construction in Cold Spring Swamp, Beacon, Pettee and Summit streets; favorable to order for $5775 for payment of interest, and recommending $15,000 for settlement of claims of mill owners.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending grant of attachments to Telephone Co. on Chestnut terrace; recommending grant of conduit locations to Telephone Co. on various streets.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending taking land at Chestnut Hill for sewer purposes; favorable to request of school committee for accommodations in Mason school for manual training; favorable to sewers in Pettee street, Cold Spring Swamp, Beacon street and Summit street; favorable to watering of Middle street and Old Orchard road; recommending adoption of schedule of sewer assessments and recommending laying out of Broadway under betterment act.

These committee reports were adopted.

CLAIMS: Recommending leave to withdraw on claims of L. K. Liggett for abatement of Hammond brook betterment assessment; on claim of Albert Brackett for abatement of sewer assessment, Russell road and of A. H. Munsell for sewer abatement in Chestnut Hill. Alderman Mellen explained in the Liggett matter that Mr. Liggett had been assessed at the same rate as other estates located at the same distance from the brook and it was inadvisable to make any exception.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending revocation of pool table license of T. J. Reardon, Elliot street, and recommending leave to withdraw on petitions for wagon licenses from W. B. Weldon and C. W. Keefe.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition for sewer in Auburn street.

RULES, ETC.: Recommending approval of records of board to date.

HYDE SCHOOL.

The order for $9250 for purchase of additional land at Newton Highlands came up as unfinished business and Alderman Mellen spoke as follows:

I have asked at the last two meetings of this board to have the order relative to purchase of land in the Hyde district and for fitting up the club house in the Hyde district laid on the table. I am now willing to withdraw all opposition to the order for the fitting up of the club house, although I never had any real opposition to it, but simply desired to investigate it more carefully because it will be necessary to fit it up this summer and this is the last meeting of the board. As to the purchase of the land at the price mentioned in this order, it is impossible to accomplish that result. The Newton Highlands Improvement Society by its executive appointed a sub-committee consisting of Mr. Freedom Hutchinson and myself to confer with the Trustees who own this land. Mr.

Hutchinson has been in correspondence with Judge John A. Bennett who has been ill, and has also consulted Mr. J. F. Moors who is the other Trustee. They say it is impossible to obtain one half that land for the assessed valuation, therefore the adoption of this order would be unnecessary and useless. The attitude of the Trustees is, that if the City purchased one half of this land for school purposes the other half would be practically useless for the Trustees and it would be practically the same as selling the whole lot for one half the assessed value.

I think it would be impossible for the City to purchase one half of the land for even 25 cents a foot, which is the option the city has on the whole lot. I believe now, as I always have, that if the assessed valuation was offered to the Trustees for that lot of land there is a strong probability that we could purchase the land for that valuation. I may be wrong but that is my conviction, and I am strengthened in my conviction from the fact that other lands in Newton Highlands have been sold at the assessed valuation which is less than 20 cents a foot. As I say I withdraw all opposition to the part of the order relating to the fitting up of the club house and as to the other order I am entirely indifferent whether it passes or not.

Alderman Chesley stated that if there was no objections he would like to have the matter referred back to the Committee on Public Works.

The order was then recommended to the Committee on Public Works. This order for $740 for additional rent, furnishings and teacher in the Hyde district was then adopted.

On motion of Alderman Brown, the petition of P. W. Hamilton et al employees of ice companies that the very of ice on Sundays be prohibited, was withdrawn from the Committee on Rules and referred to the Mayor, Alderman Brown explaining that the board had no jurisdiction in the matter.

ORDERS.

These orders were then adopted:

Granting attachments to N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. on Chestnut terrace; granting conduit locations to N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. in St. James, Park, Vernon, Arlington, Copley Church, Eldredge, Auburn, Sterling, Temple, Prince, Winthrop, Cherry, Otis, Highland, Valentine, Dartmouth, Putnam, Beacon, Cypress, Parker, Sumner, Walnut, from Forest to Watertown, Walnut from Forest to Beacon streets, Waverley, Huntwell, Grant avenues and Langley road; instructing Public Buildings Commissioner to prepare accommodations in the Mason school for manual training; taking land in Cold Spring Swamp for sewer, assigning hearing Sept 15 on taking land at Chestnut Hill for sewers; authorizing sewer construction in Cold Spring Swamp, Beacon, Pettee and Summit streets; granting $246,419.15 for city expenses to Sept 14; granting $275 for city expenses to Sept 15; granting $275 for Soldiers' Relief, transferring $100 from State Aid to Military Aid; appropriating $5775 for payment of interest; authorizing settlement of mill owners' claims on Charles river for $15,000; authorizing street watering on Middle street and Old Orchard road; and adopting schedule of sewer assessments.

Alderman Saltonstall offered the following resolution which was adopted:

RESOLVED, that in view of the increasing practice of the drivers of steam and electric vehicles to use the streets of this city for speeding purposes far in excess of the limit allowed by law, the present effort of the Chief of Police to enforce the law meets with the approval of his Board, and the Board is further of the opinion, not only that the said effort should be continued, but that every assistance should be given the police department in the prosecution of offenders.

In speaking of the matter, Alderman Saltonstall said that there was a strong sentiment in his district that the excessive speed of machine propelled vehicles should be prohibited and said that he had had a narrow escape himself on Sunday from a serious accident caused by an automobile. There were many complaints and he believed the police department was doing all that could be done to stop the trouble. He offered the resolution to encourage the Chief of Police in his recent laudable efforts to enforce the law as to speed.

At the request of Alderman Baker, Alderman H. B. Day filed a letter with the Clerk from President Claflin of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Co. stating that the 15 minute service between Lower Falls and Nonantum square would be restored and through cars from the Lower Falls to the Subway and from Norumbega Park to Nonantum square would be discontinued on June 22.

Alderman Hubbard brought up matter of street lighting, stating that no new lights had been located for some time. Alderman Barber believed that something should be done and on his motion an order was adopted calling upon the Mayor for information on the subject.

President Weed called the attention of the members that assistance could be rendered the City Clerk in preparing the reports of the meetings of the board if speeches were edited before Saturday noon following the board meeting.

And at 10 p. m. the board adjourned until Sept. 14th.

Firemen's Sunday was observed by the members of the Newton department, the graves of former comrades in the various cemeteries of the city being decorated. Chief W. B. Randlett had charge of the party, which consisted of the call men of the department and members of the veteran association.

Funeral of Cornelius P. Harkins

Prominent members of the Catholic priesthood from all parts of the state, together with a large number of friends and associates, gathered at the Church of Our Lady last Friday morning to pay their final tribute to Cornelius P. Harkins.

There was a brief service of prayer at his late home on Washington street, at the close of which the remains were borne to the church, where solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at 10. Rev. P. J. Harkins of Holyoke, a brother of the dead man, was celebrant, and Rev. J. F. Gilfether and Rev. J. F. Kelley deacon and subdeacon respectively.

The remains were taken to Holyhood cemetery for interment. The pallbearers were John J. Cranitch, George M. Cranitch, James Carney, Louis Keenan, James Murphy, Cornelius McHugh, Charles McHugh, and P. A. Murray, all of Newton.

Among the numerous floral tributes were a pillow of roses and galax from Louis Keenan; standing cross of roses from the altar boys of St. Augustine's church, South Boston; wreath of lilies and roses from the girls' sodality of St. Augustine's church; standing cross from the children of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Callahan; pillow, with "grandpa" worked in immortelles, from the children of Dr. and Mrs. F. M. O'Donnell; pillow of roses from Frank G. Harkins; pillow from the sons, Rev. J. J., Dr. D. S., Dr. C. P., A. L. and F. G. Harkins; standing wreath from Rev. P. J. Harkins and Miss Grace Harkins; spray of roses and carnations from St. Augustine's parochial residence.

Quite a number of Newton people took advantage of a party organized by the Bureau of University Travel and sailed from Boston Thursday, June 11, at 11 o'clock, on the Dominion liner New England. There were among the saloon passengers, Miss Bertha V. Drew, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Powers of Newton; Mrs. Kate B. Mead and Mr. Clifford Mead, Mr. George T. Hill and Miss A. W. Hill of West Newton, and Miss Dora Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Winslow of Auburndale. Over 200 tourists have been booked by the Bremen and on the Mediterranean, they have a steamer chartered for their separate use. They will visit Rome, Naples, Athens, and other cities, making special study of their art treasures.

Marcus W. Sawyer Dead

Marcus M. Sawyer, a salesman on India street, died at his home in Newton Highlands on Friday, after a brief illness. He was born in Haverhill, Dec. 25, 1842, and in early life was connected with the Eastern railroad. For 27 years he has been a salesman for the Frank Jones Brewing Company. He leaves a wife, one son and a daughter. The funeral took place at his home at Chestnut and Standish streets, at 1.30, on Monday.

There was a large attendance of kindred and friends and the contributions of flowers were numerous and beautiful. The services were conducted by Rev. Geo. G. Phipps of Newton Highlands, and the Beethoven quartet sang the following selections: "Lead Kindly Light," "In Heavenly Love Abiding" and "Gathering Home." The burial was in Mt. Auburn cemetery.

George C. Argy, has been unanimously elected leader of the Dartmouth College Mandolin Club. He is a graduate of the Newton High school class of 1901, a member of the class of 1905 Dartmouth College and of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity. While in the high school he was for several years leader of the "Newtonians," a very successful mandolin and guitar club of this city.

Robinson-Eaton.

The many friends here of Mr. Philip Hildreth Robinson of Albany, N. Y., will be interested to learn of his marriage to Miss Nina Gertrude Eaton, which took place Tuesday afternoon of this week at 3 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Eaton, 70 School street, North Brookfield. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Frank L. Maseck of the Church of Our Father, Spencer, Mass., and the best man was Mr. Richard B. Robinson of Newton, a brother of the groom. The bride was gowned in white Swiss over white taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. George D. Muzzy of Worcester, who wore a dress of mode crepe de chine over blue taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink American beauty roses. A pretty feature of the affair was the six ribbon girls, the Misses Dorothy and Helen Robinson of Newton, nieces of the groom, Mabel Shepard of Easton, Pa., and Mabel Thompson of South Natick, cousins of the bride, Mary F. Ricker of Portsmouth, Ohio and Bertha Collins of North Brookfield. The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with mountain laurel, daisy chains, ferns and roses. Among those present were many relatives and friends from Newton, North Brookfield and the west, and included a party of young people from this city. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robinson of Channing street and during his residence here he was active in the work at the Newton Y. M. C. A., of the Newton Choral Association and among the young people of Eliot church. They will reside in Albany, N. Y.

Memorial of Faithful Worker.

Few possessed a deeper interest in the welfare and prosperity of Channing Unitarian church than the late C. Bowditch Coffin. It therefore seems eminently fitting that on the walls of the church parlors there should hang his picture. A likeness which is readily appreciated by all who knew him, is mounted in a gold frame and hangs beneath a marble clock which Mr. Coffin himself presented to the church several years ago. The clock, perhaps, is but a single testimony of his faithful service,—the picture, however, tells of its fruits in the hearts of those who best knew and loved him.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S OXAR

(Life.)

Come, clean the House, although this Rite of Spring
From Cook and Housemaid sudden Warning bring;
They're certain to give Notice, anyway.
For Wages rise—and they are on the Wing!
Whether in Boston or in Binghamton,
Whether the House be lax or Strictly run,
The Cook has Tempers every day or two,
The Housemaid breaks the Teacups
one by one.
Each Ship a hundred Bridgets brings,
you say,
Yes—but where lives the Cook of Yeaterday?
And this new Age that brings the sullen Sweet Sweeps the old Family Treasure quite away.
The Girl gains Schooling, writes—

THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTION.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The 78th anniversary of Newton Baptist Theological Institution was completed last week Thursday, when the final graduation exercises in connection with its commencement week were held at the First Baptist church of Newton Centre.

The exercises were held at 10 o'clock and were largely attended by the students, their relatives and acquaintances, and by members of the board of trustees and alumni.

The program opened with prayer and the singing of a hymn, after which the following addresses were delivered by members of the graduating class:

"The Central Need of the Church Today," Francis LeG. Church; "A Plea for the Down-Town Church," James B. Gilman; "The Outstanding Teaching of the Old Testament," Abner F. Newcomb; "The Treatment of Doubt in the Bible," Harry E. Safford; "The Function of the Imagination in Preaching," Simeon Spidle; "The Minister, a Man of His Time," Michael J. Twomey.

Following music, at the close of this portion of the exercises, President Nathan E. Wood of the institution after a short address presented the following graduates their diplomas:

William E. Baker, B. A., M. A. (Brown University,) South Amboy, N. J.; Francis LeG. Church, B. A. (University of Michigan,) Holly, Mich.; William H. Dyas, B. A., (Acadia University,) Parrsboro, N. A., (Acadia University,) Amherst, N. S.; Joseph L. Peacock, B. A., (Brown University,) H. A. (Brown University,) Grasmere, N. H.; Clarence S. Pond, B. A., (Boston University,) Boston; Harry E. Safford, B. A., M. A. (Harvard University,) Lawrence; Simeon Spidle, B. A., (Acadia University,) Mahone Bay, N. S.; Michael J. Twomey, Ph. D., (Brown University,) Norwich, Ct.; Lew A. Walker, B. A., (Kalamazoo College,) Adrian, Mich.; Albert G. Warner, B. A., (Cobly College,) Hopedale.

Degrees of bachelor of divinity, James B. Gilman, thesis: "Justification, by Faith," Simeon Spidle, thesis: "The Relation of the Old and New Covenants."

The two latter received degrees as the successful result of an extra course of study.

At 12:45 the annual trustees' dinner for contributors, the alumni and other guests was held in Bray hall, Newton Centre, at the close of which there was speaking by President W. A. Munroe of the board of trustees and others.

A reception was held at 4 o'clock by the students in the Hills Library.

"Strength and vigor come of good food, duly digested. Force, a ready-to-serve wheat and barley food, adds in burden but sustains, nourishes, invigorates."

NEW CHURCH AT NEWTON CENTRE.

TO BE MODELLED AFTER THE STYLE OF ARCHITECTURE OF MANY ENGLISH COUNTRY CHURCHES.

A handsome addition to the many beautiful church homes in this city will be that of the new edifice soon to be erected by the First Congregational society of Newton Centre, one of the oldest and wealthiest in this vicinity.

The building, the plans for which have been prepared by Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge of Boston, will occupy the site of the present church, which is being torn down. Its approximate cost will be $107,500.

It will be modeled after the style of architecture of many of the English country churches, and will be constructed of Brighton ledge stone, with lime stone trimmings.

A large tower, 59 feet high, will surmount the main entrance on Centre street, through the tiled vestibule of which access is obtained to the auditorium of the church. The latter will be 96 by 62 feet, with ample accommodations for 670 persons, and, in common with the whole interior of the building will be finished in oak.

First Congregational Church at Newton Centre, now being torn down.

Overlooking the auditorium at the rear is a gallery seating 90. On either side of the building there will be the Sunday school class rooms, ladies' parlor and a spacious library, all of which can be thrown into practically one large room by means of sliding doors. Conveniently placed at this end of the church are two entrances leading to Homer and Bowen streets.

Occupying the second floor and reached by winding stairways will be other class rooms and an infants' room.

A large kitchen with adjoining dining room of ample proportions will be located in the basement.

The building will be heated and ventilated by the most approved methods and lighted throughout by electricity.

A feature of the exterior, and one seldom seen in this vicinity, will be artistic stone tracery about the windows. Preparations are also being made for the instalment of several handsome memorial windows.

REAL ESTATE

Edward T. Harrington & Co., through their agent, W. H. Rand, have leased the Gane estate, Waltham street, West Newton, to Mr. H. S. Davis of Watertown. This was formerly one of the most beautiful estates in Newton. Mr. Davis leases with the privilege of buying at the expiration of the lease, will make extensive repairs, and much of its former beauty will be restored. This with other recent sales in this vicinity made by the same broker, and the erection of the fine Allen school house and North Gate club house will have a very beneficial effect upon property on this most attractive street.

The deed has just been recorded transferring six lots of land on Talbot street, West Newton, containing about 23300 sq. ft., assessed for 7 cents per foot, to an out of town party who buys for investment. Two more lots on the same street, one being on the corner of Harris road, containing 7800 sq. ft., have been sold to Christy J. MacMillan and C. F. MacKay. These sales were made through the office of H. Libbey & Son for H. A. Libbey of 257 Washington St., Boston, who is grading and constructing Talbot street from Derby street to Harris road, which with the removal of a dozen played out apple trees makes quite a change in the appearance of this tract of land.

Turner & Williams have rented the following houses: The Higgins & Nickerson house, No. 192 Lowell avenue, to H. P. Dearborn; the J. A. Hills house No. 427 Newtonville avenue, to G. W. F. Reed of Boston; the Boston Safe Deposit Trust Co. house No. 16 Highland park, to J. H. Nutt of Newton; the J. C. Hager house, No. 79 Washington park, to Mr. Upham; the Levi Cooley house, No. 26 Broadway, to Mr. C. F. Daniels of Boston; the Thomas house, No. 68 Austin street, to Paul Moore; the F. V. Smith house, No. 33 Lowell avenue, to A. Goodman of Boston; the G. W. Brown house, No. 5 Jenison street, to G. W. Gould, Jr.; Higgins & Nickerson house, No. 194 Lowell avenue, to A. May Hassler; the Parker house, No. 729 Walnut street, to Mr. A. F. Merriam; the P. B. Howard house, No. 88 Central avenue, to Mr. C. F. Whitney of Pittsburg, Pa.; the Claffin house, No. 6 Walnut terrace, to I. H. Hicks, Framingham; the Mitchell house, No. 62 Court street, W. C. Ellis; the Thompson house, No. 37 Claremont avenue, to Daniel Cameron; the Meagher house, Carter street, to R. W. Wilson of Cambridge; the Higgins & Nickerson house, No. 117 Nevada street, to Miss Pendlebury; the Schofield house, No. 10 Washington terrace, to Dr. A. R. Anderson; the F. D. Hall house, Washington Park, to Mr. Chalmers of Dorchester; the Ross house, No. 367 Newtonville avenue, to James H. Hickey of Boston; Bell house, No. 354 Waltham street, West Newton, to S. P. Ford of Waltham; Claffin house, No. 5 Walnut terrace, to Mrs. T. C. Ellis of Newton Highlands; A. D. S. Bell house, No. 356 Waltham street, West Newton, to J. T. Hogan of Newtonville; Schofield house, No. 10 Washington terrace, to James Thornton; the Higgins and Nickerson house, No. 197 Lowell avenue, to Walter H. Marsh of Boston; the Loring house, Trowbridge avenue, to J. M. Woodbridge of Boston; the White house, No. 595 Watertown street, to E. H.

Crandall of Auburndale; the A. D. S. Bell house, No. 234 Cabot street, to E. L. Kincaide of Somerville; the Bell house, No. 352 Waltham street, West Newton, to John Sullivan of Winthrop; the Gay house, No. 119 Austin street, to Mrs. Elizabeth Harris of Auburndale; the Ross house, 309 Cabot street, to Mr. H. S. Fisher of Winthrop; the Bell house, 350 Waltham street, West Newton, to M. J. Conlan of Newtonville; the four Parker flats, Walnut street, to H. F. Howland, W. W. Lantz, F. H. Keizer and Thomas P. Smith and have sold for Laura B. Crain, house and about 5000 ft. of land on Bowers street to Kendall Hunt; the assessed value is $3,800; also a lot of land on Watertown street, containing 6000 feet to John J. Healy and for Elizabeth H. Barton, house and about 18,000 feet of land on Harvard street to Lindsey Hooper, the assessed value is $5,800.

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R.

A party of eighteen from this Chapter bore witness to the descent from doctory ancestors of the Revolutionary period by going to "The Wayside Inn," Sudbury, for their Flag Day outing, June 15th, undeterred by wind and weather. By trolley, steam train and barge they reached their destination safely and in good condition, and were well repaid by the attractions of the inn, and its location. Many valuable pieces of old furniture, mirrors, lamps, ornaments, bits of china, of intrinsic as well as historic value, collected by the present owner, now ornament this ancient hostelry. With appetites well whetted by the trip this company enjoyed a bountiful dinner, were entertained by post prandial readings, jokes and stories. Later the merry party returned to their homes, feeling sure their outing had afforded them much profit and pleasure, though the elements had proved unpropitious.

William F. Murray Deed

William F. Murray, past grand dictator of the Knights of Honor, died last week Thursday evening at his home on Watertown street, Newtonville. He had been ill for about a year, but had been able to attend to his business, that of a hat block manufacturer at 23 Beach street, Boston, up to within a few weeks.

He joined Union Lodge, Knights of Honor, in Boston, March 26, 1889. He was grand dictator of the state in 1901, and supreme representative in 1901-2. He was financial secretary of Union lodge for about 10 years, and had been a district deputy under various grand dictators. His family consisted of a wife and two boys. Services were held Sunday at 3 p. m., at his late residence. Brief but impressive were the services held over the remains at the family residence last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends including many members of the Knights of Honor. Rev. Ozora S. Davis, pastor of the Central church, offered prayer, followed by reading portions of scripture and pronounced a brief eulogy. There were many floral tributes including offerings from relatives, the grand officers of the Knights of Honor, Mt. Ida Council and Union lodge of K. of H. of Boston. Monday morning the remains were taken to Plymouth for interment in the family lot in Evergreen cemetery.

Financial.

There is every indication that the stock market has been oversold. As in time of buoyancy and rising prices, stocks are likely to be lifted too high; so in a period of liquidation and pessimism, they are likely to be hammered too low. Among men who have any knowledge of values, there exists the firmest conviction that prices today are much too low.

One has only to look at prices two or three years ago, and observe the great growth of the country since that time, to become convinced that present prices do not represent values. Stocks are in many cases selling lower than in 1900; and yet the growth of business, as measured by railway earnings, has been about 50 per cent. Good investment stocks are much cheaper now than in 1900, because they possess more real worth.

—Corey, Milliken & Co.

The powerful bear party that has been at work in the market succeeded during the first part of the week in dislodging some large speculative accounts, and this, together with some unfavorable rumors, caused a semi-panic feeling for a short time. While the short side of the market has been the profitable one for some time past, it is a question if the selling has not been overdone, and it is the consensus of opinion of good judges that prices are grounding around bottom, and that those who have the courage to buy the dividend paying securities around current prices, either for investment or on a fair margin, will gather in large profits.—Curtis & Sederquist.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Keith's Theatre—Coming to New England's favorite vaudeville playhouse the week of June 22 is a distinguished lot of entertainers, several of whom have never appeared in Boston before. Among the latter are Jules and Ella Garrison, in a burlesque act. It is admirable and laughable by turns, and has scored a big hit. McIntyre and Heath have a new black-face specialty that is said to be more laugh provoking than any they have yet appeared in; Musical Duet will play old and new airs on his chime bells; Herr Tschow will exhibit a number of new trained cats, and there will be several other specialties of a pleasing nature. The Fadettes concerts will continue, with an entire change of selections and the vitagraph will show an entire new list of motion pictures.

Boston Music Hall—Managers E. D. Stair and A. L. Wilbur of the Boston Music Hall take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been perfected whereby that theatre will remain open this summer for the presentation of a series of popular plays by the celebrated Aubrey Stock Company, one of the most noted stock organizations in this country. The company will begin a limited engagement at Music Hall on Monday afternoon of next week. The opening attraction will be that famous play founded on the celebrated Dreyfus case, entitled "Devils' Island." The action is brisk from start to finish, and a particularly efficient cast represents the different characters, with scenic effects that are said to out rival those of most similar plays.

NORUMBEGA PARK

POPULAR RESORT CROWDED WITH GREAT ATTRACTIONS.

All last season it was a frequently expressed regret that there was no provision made at Norumbega Park for disposing of automobiles while parties visited the park either to make a general inspection of its many attractions or to enjoy the excellent cuisine which Mr. L. E. Bow provides at the restaurant. This difficulty has been obviated this season. The vaudeville program in the rustic theatre this week is unusually attractive. The principal feature is the sensational Cyclo-Velodrome, the most recent elaboration of the cycle whirl idea. J. Know Gavin and Jennie Platt are making a big hit in their sketch, "A Stolen Kid." Great amusement is provided by the clever action of their dog "Peach," who plays the part of the goat.

Considerable complaint is heard regarding the failure to locate new street lights, no work having been done in this direction for over eight-teen months.

It will be remembered that a commission labored long and earnestly last year, viewing every street light in the city and presenting a most comprehensive and valuable report.

The Gas Company refused to meet any of its recommendations regarding the changing of locations and a deadline has existed for some time.

The Company's position is fairly reasonable, they say that it is useless for them to go to the expense of changing a large number of street lights a few feet each, with the possibility that next year another city government will require them to move them back again.

On the other hand the commission's recommendations were carefully considered and when carried out will greatly improve the value of the present street lights. It seems possible, therefore, to come to some agreement whereby the lights might be relocated this time and to require subsequent relocations to be approved by the Gas Commissioners.

The question of whether or not the Gas Company should be required to parallel existing gas mains with electric service might also be carried to the Gas Commission.

What is wanted and wanted at once, however, is some action towards relieving a situation which is steady-ly growing worse.

Next Wednesday, St. John's Day, in the Masonic calendar, is to be observed in Newton by Gethsemane Commandery of Knights Templars
by a parade and banquet, at which six other commanderies are to be their guests. Over 1200 uniformed Knights will be in line, seven bands will enliven the occasion and the day will be a noteworthy one in the history of the city.

The Commandery desires that the visitors shall receive a favorable impression of our beautiful city and asks the citizens residing upon the streets through which the parade will pass to decorate their places with bunting and flags.

We hope that all along the line of march the people will respond to this request of the Knights Templars.
The program is published in another column.

The Graphic will publish a special illustrated edition on the day as a souvenir of the occasion.

Attention is called to the warm words of approval for our Representatives in our weekly letter from the State House. It certainly is good policy for the city to elect and then continue to elect good men to represent us.

The pity of it all is that other communities do not give the same attention to this matter as we do, and the general average of this Legislature is far below what it ought to be.

This fall it will be Newton's turn to name the senator, and there seems to be a general feeling that the nomination belongs to Mr. Dana, whose good work in the House has certainly earned for him whatever honor attaches to the position.

The payment of $15,000 to the mill owners along the banks of the Charles river in settlement of claims for alleged loss of water, is in our humble opinion simply a case of legalized blackmail. The use of water as a motive power in these modern days and in this vicinity is small and the probable loss from the amount of water diverted from the river by our driven wells is purely theoretical.

On two occasions this year the police department has received al-dermanic approval for performing ordinary acts of duty. We hardly see why the police should be singled out for such exceptional treatment.
Other departments do their work just as faithfully as the police, and if resolutions are to be adopted for routine work, the board has certainly got its hands full of business.

The Lower Falls has won its fight for restoration of 15 minute street car service between that village and No-quantum square. This has been done at the expense of discontinuing the line between Norumbega Park and Nonantum square and the through line between Lower Falls and the Boston subway. It remains for the future to indicate whether or not too high a price has been paid for the service?

Lieut. Charles T. Leeds.

Newton has produced many young men who have proved a credit to the city and an honor to their country. Of these none have entered upon the chosen field of their life's work with a greater prospect of success than Charles Tileston Leeds, who graduated from the West Point Military Academy last week with the rank of Second Lieutenant.

Lieut. Leeds was born in Newton,
May 14th, 1879, attended the public schools and graduated from the High school in the class of 1896. The next three years he spent as a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Having a strong inclination for military affairs he decided to take the examination for West Point and passing this with the other necessary qualifications he entered the freshman class June 6th, 1899.

The first year he ranked fourth,
the next two years second and still retained the second place at the close of the senior year, the first going to Douglas McArthur, son of Gen.
Arthur McArthur. As one of the first ten or star men he will be assigned to the Corps of Engineers and will report for duty at the expiration of a four months' leave of absence.
While not positively announced it is probable that the first four ranking men will be assigned for duty in the Philippines.

BASE BALL

OLD MEN 10, HUNNEWELLS 6.

One of the most popular games of base ball ever played in Newton took place on Hunnewell Hill on the 17th, between the well known Hunnewell Base Ball Club and the "Old Men" a team made up of the fathers and older friends of the boys. Hunnewell played its usual snappy and steady game, almost without an error, but Cotting's pitching and the superior batting of the Old Men proved too much for the boys. Hunnewell has challenged the Old Men to a second game, to be played June 27th.

Allen-Morgan.

At "The Anchorage," the beautiful country home of Col. Frank S. Chaffee on the shores of Stetson's pond, Pembroke, last Wednesday morning occurred the marriage of Miss Laura May Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Morgan of Newton and Mr. Arthur Lowell Allen. Rev. Ralph S. Cushman performed the ceremony and Col. Chaffee officiated as best man. Only the relatives and intimate friends of the couple were present. The house was decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and ferns. The wedding breakfast was served on the lawn, which stretches in a smooth green expanse down to the water's edge. Later Mr. and Mrs. Allen left for their honeymoon and on their return will make their home at the Rawson, 51 Corey street, Everett.

Newton Cemetery Corporation.

The annual meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation was held on Monday. All the members of the Board of Trustees and the old officers were re-elected. The grounds were in fine condition, giving no evidence of the long drought. The cemetery steadily improves from year to year, and the people of Newton may well be proud of it. Why do not more lot owners take interest enough in this sacred and beautiful possession at least to attend the annual meeting.

The year has been a fairly prosperous one for the Cemetery Corporation. The sale of lots has not been so large as for the two previous years, but a good addition has been made to the Perpetual Care Fund, on old and new lots, and in spite of unfavorable climatic exigencies the grounds have been kept in good condition. We appreciate more and more the value of our water plant, by which we are enabled to keep our ponds full and our grounds sprinkled. During the year the heirs of John S. Farlow, who gave us the handsome chapel and conservatory, cheerfully performed a pious duty by giving us a fund of ten thousand dollars, the income to be devoted to the maintenance and repair, as needed of Mr. Farlow's gift. This was an act worthy of Mr. Farlow's public spirit and the heirs deserve our cordial thanks. The product of the fund will go far towards paying the expense of what we have regarded a luxury, which has added much to the attractions of the cemetery.

The care of the cemetery is kept so entirely to the Trustees by the owners of lots that we often wonder whether the owners know how their work is done. The lots where their loved ones lie must be a sacred possession to them, and it would be gratifying to the trustees and helpful to them in their trust, if they could see a liberal attendance at the annual meetings. It may be that their absence implies confidence; nevertheless the trustees would be glad to see them interested and even critical.

Gibson Curtis.

The wedding of Miss Carrie Hastings Curtis, to Harvey D. Gibson, took place at the St. John's Episcopal church, Newtonville, June 10th, at 7.30 p. m. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Richard T. Loring, the double ring service being used. The church was beautifully decorated with daisies, palms and ferns and a profusion of white carnations on the altar; the conventional white ribbon being used on the aisles. The bride was beautifully gowned in white renaissance lace, over white silk, carrying a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Rillie Garrison of Newton was the maid of honor, and gowned in white point d'esprit over blue silk, carrying a bouquet of bride roses; the bridesmaids were Miss Vida Allen and Miss May Poore of Boston; Miss Beattie Hartshorn of Newtonville and Miss Mary Adams of Cambridge. The best man was Mr. Harry MacCann of New York; Messrs. Abbott, Rodck, Palmer and Dana were the ushers, all being college friends of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's mother's, on Otis street.

The display of mountain laurel in the room where they received their guests was very beautiful, the bridal couple standing under a white floral bell, assisted by Mrs. Curtis, mother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gibson, North Conway, parents of the groom. The house throughout was beautifully decorated; the dining room being in pink and white.

An orchestra was stationed in the upper hall, which furnished music throughout the entire evening. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson after an extended wedding trip, will be at home to their friends, October 7th, at their residence, 43 Otis street.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

Boston, June 17.

With the General Court apparently in its closing week, it is worth while to say a few words of the character and work of the members of the Newton delegation.

As has been her practically uniform policy in a series of years, Newton sent to the State House two men who in their ability and influence more than matched the delegations of eight or ten men sent by other larger cities. This is the way in which places with small delegations can hold their own, and the policy of choosing two good men and not replacing them until it is certain their successors will be equally useful and influential is the wisest that could be adopted. In many particulars Mr. Dana was the leader of the House, though occasionally attempted to stem the tide of illconsidered legislative action in vain. His monumental work is of course the bill now in the governor's hands which will liberalize and perfect the corporation legislation of the state.

Speaker Myers placed him on the committee on constitutional amendments, where he was a safety valve and prevented many foolish reports, dissenting from others and in the midst of his onerous duties as chairman of the committee on corporation laws finding time to prepare exhaustive and statesmanlike summaries of the arguments against the initiative and referendum. Newton should never permit Mr. Dana to retire to private life until he has given her and the state the service in higher positions for which he is so abundantly fitted.

From the beginning of his service, Mr. Warren assumed a useful place in legislative work. The committee on ways and means is the first excepting rules to meet and the last to finally adjourn. Membership in it means long hours and weary consideration of perplexing financial problems. These he has met with patience, and his service has been faithful and diligent. A place on ways and means is equivalent to a chairmanship of a joint committee from the start. Mr. Dean of Brookline recognized this and never would accept any other committee except rules. Mr. Warren has not shirked responsibilities, and has taken good care of every measure committed to him to report and see through its readings. No Newton members ever neglects the matters of interest to his home district, and Mr. Warren is no exception in this regard. He has no foolish votes to regret, and the breath of suspicion has not been directed in his vicinity. When there are so many men in the House whose arguments and votes cause one to blush for the Commonwealth and wonder where we will bring up if cities and towns continue to honor such slipshod and illconsidered work; when the demagogue flourishes and one has to fight to repress pessimism, it is a matter of satisfaction that the lump is leavened by men of such sound judgment and sane views as the two Newton representatives.

It is a matter of regret that Mr. Dana's hands have been tied by his committee duties to so great an extent, for the need of a wise leader, unhampered by considerations of official advancement and membership on the rules committee has been too evident for words. A member of the rules committee must necessarily reflect the views of the Speaker, and if the Speaker vacillates or is guided by motives of policy, his committee can do nothing; but a Republican member, using his judgment and with the confidence of the majority, can do great things if he acts independently. Judge Schofield was in this position for two years, and Mr. Dana was in the very same position this year. Unfortunately, however, he has had to spend most of his time in his committee room.

The bill to provide for additional support for the schools in poor towns from the income of the school fund will reach the governor in a day or two. He has vetoed the bill to permit the saving bank commissioners to exempt certain banks from the bank separation law. It is anticipated that he may veto the special trust company bill, many of which were advocated before the banks and banking committee by W. F. Garcelon of Newton. If he does it will lead to the passage of the general bill which the House has thus far rejected. The Charles River dam bill is trembling in the balance and may yet go over to the next general court.

Letter to John McCammon, Newton

Dear Sir: You know all about shoes. How many customers have you who know anything about 'em? You have bought and sold shoes for years, and have learned what you know by your customers liking one sort, and not liking another. They find out by wearing 'em.

So with paint; but we go deeper. We are 149 years old in the business; and we make, not buy—we make a good deal of paint.

We paint a good share of the railroad and steamer property in the United States, and may as well paint the private property. Yours as well as anybody else's.

Devote Lead and Zinc is your paint. Costs half as much as mixed paint or lead and oil because it takes fewer gallons and wears twice as long.

Beck Bros. & Co., Williamsport, Pa., write:

"Mr. Erza Rathmell had used 11 gallons of a well known mixed paint for his house; he repainted it this year with Devote Lead and Zinc; bought 11 gallons and had 5 gallons left."

Yours truly,

BEING A GOOD FELLOW.

It is a Losing Game in the Long Run For Most Men.

Any sensible young man ought to know that he can't be up late nights abusing his stomach and be in full possession of his faculties for business the next day, and he ought to know also that a man must be clear headed and in full possession of his faculties to hold his own in the keen competition of life. Your "good fellow" is popular for the time being, but when his money is gone and he has lost his job and is on his uppers the "good fellow" business doesn't get him anything. It's "poor fellow" then—another good man gone wrong, and "the boys" are ready to hail another "good fellow" who has the price.

We don't mean by this to say that "the boys" are mercenary. They don't altogether pass up a "good fellow" when he goes broke, but it isn't the same. They say he hit the booze too hard and couldn't stand the pace. They feel sorry for him, but he is out of it. His good fellowship doesn't excuse him even in the eyes of his friends for having thrown away his opportunity.

The young man who gets the sleep his system needs, is temperate in his habits, lives within his means and shows up for work in the morning with a clear eye and active brain—that's the man business men are looking for. They want employees who they can trust. Having worked hard and laid by a competence, they want to throw some of the burdens off, and they won't throw them off on the employee who is too much of a "good fellow."

Cut it out, boys. There's nothing in it. There's a whole lot of nonsense in that "good fellow" business. You can't fool the public very long by living beyond your means and keeping up appearances. There must be a showdown some time or other, and that means a loss of self respect and many bitter experiences. Many a bright and promising business man has failed because he tried to travel in too swift a class, whereas had he lived within his means he might have become a highly successful merchant.

The world doesn't give up its treasures easily. It isn't in the cards for all of us to be millionaires, and mighty few of the "good fellows" get into that class. It's better to earn your way first and go hunting for good times when you have reached the point where you can spare both the time and the money. Then possibly you'll have more sense and have a different notion about what a good time is.—Toledo Bee.

An Enemy of Panics.

There is one enemy for which the pansy lover must watch like a lynx, and that is a little green worm that seems made on purpose to devour panics. Where he comes from or why he should exist at all is a mystery. But if you find your little plants stop growing and see the leaves perforated with small holes and your blossoms gnawed behold, your enemy is there. Eternal vigilance alone will save you. Your face must be brought to the surface of the ground. Kneel and turn up every leaf. Doubtless you will find the small green monster curled up and hiding, sucking out all the juices of the plant and so becoming exactly its color, which makes him so difficult to find, and if not checked he will utterly destroy it. He will devour it in a few days.

The Boy.

A boy is an odd piece of furniture, but he is the ground and chief ingredient of the man. Delude not yourself with the belief that the boy is not all he pretends to be, for he is a great deal more. He is an inconceivable fellow to any one but another boy, and because he will presently grow into the awkward between boy and manhood, and to a lumbering idiot then, don't signify that he is an idiot now. He never is. But his chrysalis state fetters him and makes him seem like one sometimes.

The boy is all right.

He Succeeded.

A man arrested for murder bribed an Irishman on the jury with $200 to hang out for a verdict of manslaughter. The jury were out a long time and finally came in with a verdict of manslaughter. The man rushed up to the Irish juror and said: "I'm obliged to you, my friend. Did you have a hard time?"

"Yes," said the Irishman; "an awful time. The other eleven wanted to acquit yer."—London Answers.

The Last Dueling Clergymen.

"When did clergymen cease to fight duels?" is a startling inquiry in Notes and Queries. It will be news to many of us that they were ever fond of that exhilarating pastime. But, as a matter of fact, the Rev. Mr. Allan fought a duel with Lloyd Delany, Esq., and killed him in Hyde park in 1782. He was convicted of manslaughter and fined 1 shilling plus six months in Newgate.

His Usual Preference.

"What kind of meat have you this morning, Larry?" asked the board of trade operator.

"Well, sir," said the butcher, "I've got some fine beef steak and some beef that's just bully."

"Humph! Give me some lamb!"—Chicago Tribune.

Quite Another Thing.

"He was unable to meet his bills, I understand?"

"Well, that's where you're wrong. He couldn't dodge them."—Chicago Post.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Freemasonry is an institution, the origin of which is so veiled in obscurity that even its name is an enigma to philologists. It is stated that the word freemason is derived from the Norman French, Frere Macon (brother mason), but the consultant word, mason, is itself an etymological mystery of which a variety of solutions has been offered, none tracing it to its source with any degree of certainty. The institution of Freemasonry possesses no veritable history extending farther back than the beginning of the eighteenth century, although it is easy to point out vague analogies between it and the great secret organizations having social aims which existed in antiquity. Esoteric study of it has nothing more convincing upon which to rely than tradition or legend. The ritual of the order teaches that King Solomon was the first Grand Master, and the entire symbolism of the first

GREETING.

The visit of the Knights Templar to Newton today will be a memorable event in the annals of our city.
Newton is said to be permeated with sectionalism, but in welcoming the Sir Knights, today, every village and every citizen will join heart and hand with the officers and members of Gethsemane Commandery, the hosts.
It is a matter of regret that the visiting Knights cannot see all the beauties of our Garden City in the program of the day.

To appreciate the handsome residences, well kept, shaded streets, the vistas of lawn and woods, and the tranquil views along the river, would require far more than a day's visit.

All Newton is proud of our beautiful city, and glad to welcome the various Knights Templar commanderies to its borders.

The Graphic is pleased to observe the celebration of St. John's Day with this special illustrated edition.
The reading matter has been prepared with great care and the sketches of the various commanderies have been derived from authentic sources.
The Graphic has made a special effort in the matter of half tone illustrations, and the number is intended as a souvenir of what must prove to be a most interesting occasion.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The order of Knights Templar is a revival, in connection with Freemasonry, of some of the chivalric orders of the middle ages. Its ritual is pervaded by the same religious spirit which marks the earlier degrees of Freemasonry, and is such that only a believer in the Christian faith can conscientiously accept its degrees. These consist of Red Cross, Knight Templar and Knight of Malta. To be eligible to knighthood the postulant must be a Royal Arch Mason, and a member in good standing of a "blue lodge" and a Chapter. In Virginia it is required that he shall also have taken the Council degrees. The supreme body of the order in this country is the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States of America. There are forty-four Grand Commanderies, each representing individual States and Territories excepting one known as the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The sum of $75,000 is being raised in Colorado Springs for the erection of a Masonic temple.

Every member of a lodge should feel his personal and individual responsibility to help maintain its prosperity.

BENEFITS OF FREE MASONRY.

While the spirit of Freemasonry is that of fraternal obligation among the members of the order, the beneficiary features which are embodied in the general character of other secret orders are not included in its policy. The benefits derived from membership are such as come from recognition of a true Mason by the craft in all parts of the world, and from that aid and assistance, which is the due of "a worthy and distressed brother" wherever he may find himself. Some lodges have beneficiary or charitable funds, but each lodge regulates its own work in connection therewith. As a rule the charities of the lodges are determined by circumstances. They are not confined to members of the particular lodge, but are extended very frequently, when the case is found to be a worthy one, to the sojourning Mason who, through illness or uninvited misfortune, is thrown helpless upon a community wherein the Masonic spirit exists. Such benefits as these, however, and of those which are to be derived in business affairs from connection with the order are not supposed to be included in the aims of those who seek the light of Freemasonry, the theory of the order being that the candidate for the degrees becomes such uninfluenced by the solicitation of friends or by any sordid consideration, but purely as a seeker after that higher knowledge which comes to a man through the mysteries of the lodge room. He becomes a Master Mason, as he avers, in order that he may travel, work and receive a master workman's wages, the better to support himself and family and to assist a worthy brother in distress. There are many very wealthy lodges in various parts of the country, and in some of them liberal appropriations are often made for charitable purposes, but usually in view of some special occasion.

SIR CHARLES E. HADCOCK, G.
Cambridge Commandery.

ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER.

Royal Arch Masonry, embracing the four degrees of Mark Master, Past Master, Most Excellent Master and Royal Arch Mason, is under the supervision of a General Grand Chapter, subordinate to which are 44 grand chapters, each representing a State or Territory, except that Pennsylvania and Virginia are united. There are nearly 2,500 subordinate or local chapters, including about 25 in the Sandwich Islands, Chili and the Chinese Empire, these last being under the immediate jurisdiction of the General Grand Chapter. The total membership is upward of 200,000. The General Grand Chapter meets triennially, and the next convocation will be held in 1903. Following are the officers of this supreme body:

SIR R. WALTER HILLIARD, C. G.
Cambridge Commandery.

General grand high priest, James W. Taylor, Luthersville, Ga.; deputy general grand high priest, Arthur G. Pollard, Lowell, Mass.; general grand king, Joseph E. Dyas, Paris, Ill.; general grand scribe, William C. Swain, Milwaukee, Wis.; general grand treasurer, John M. Carter, Baltimore, Md.; general grand secretary, Christopher G. Fox, Buffalo, N. Y.; general grand captain of the host, Nathan Kingsley, Austin, Minn.; general grand principal sojourner, Bernard G. Witt, Henderson, Ky.; general grand royal arch captain, George E. Corson, Washington, D. C.; general grand master of the third veil, Frederick W. Craig, Des Moines, Ia.; general grand master of the second veil, William F. Kuhn, Kansas City, Mo.; general grand master of the first veil, Bester G. Brown, Topeka, Kas.

THE SCENT OF A DYING ROSE.

Oh, the scent of a dying rose
Fills all my room tonight,
And a picture comes and goes
As I sit in the waning light.

'Tis a picture of long ago—
A June night wondrous fair—
And a lover's voice croons low
To a girl with a rose in her hair.

Ah, the scent of my rose tonight,
As past and present meet.
It brings back my dear lost youth—
Is the memory bitter or sweet?

LITERARY NOTES

America's teachers are given first place in the July National. Dr. A. E. Winship tells how Boston is preparing to welcome them, 25,000 strong, early in July. His article is illustrated with portraits of thirty leaders of American Education. Mr. Chapin's "Affairs at Washington" is full of brisk and lavishly illustrated chat from the capital. Colonel James Matlock Scovel's "Side Lights on Lincoln" tells of Grant's loyalty to his chief in 1864, when politicians wanted the soldier to run for president. John Howard Todd's "American Invasion of Canada" forecasts the annexation of the Dominion. Dallis Lore Sharp, George T. Richardson, J. A. Mitchell, May Ellis Nichols, Waldon Fawcett, Frederick W. Coburn, Charles Ferguson, Frank Putnam, Frank M. Sparks, Marion C. Hallett and Joe Mitchell Chappe contribute other articles and departments, dealing with outdoor life, art, commerce, politics, the stage, current event, our army and navy, John Brown's farm, and the development of American states and cities. The story tellers of the number are Grace MacGowan Cooke, James Ball Naylor, Minnie Reid French, John Austin Schetty and Walter Bidwell. The scores of pictures are all fresh and timely. ## MASONIC.

New Grand Master of Kansas-Temple Chaps.

The new grand master of Kansas, Pastor G. Brown, has been unusually active in lodge, chapter and council work since his admission to the fraternity in 1884 and is noted for his devotion to Masonry. Mr. Brown is called the only Masonic stage carpenter in the country. He created and developed the application of modern scenic properties to the dramatic presentation of all Masonic degrees and in this work is almost invariably consulted everywhere throughout the United States. He was grand high priest of the grand chapter of Kansas in 1893, grand master of the grand council in 1891 and has held many other high offices. Mr. Brown was born in 1861 and is one of the best ritualists in the United States.

MASONIC

Each brother in the lodge can do his share to make the meeting pleasant and enjoyable—the officers in doing the work in a clear, distinct and dignified manner, the members in close attention to the work, in a pleasant manner greeting their fellow members and particularly the stranger who may for the time being be within their gates and by absolute silence while the work is being done. Let nothing detract the attention of the candidate from the ceremonies then in progress, says the Keystone. Think of the time when you were made a Mason.

A Michigan lodge has adopted a good plan to secure new members. A committee of twelve known as the membership committee has been appointed, and at their meetings every member brings some information concerning prospective candidates. ### OTHER RITES.

There are other rites than the York and Scottish, which, however, are not recognized by the great bodies of Masons in the United States and Great Britain. For instance, the Grand Orient of France is unrecognized because of the fact that it does not demand that postulants for the degrees shall believe in a Supreme being. The Grand Orient of Spain is also unrecognized. There is a numerous body of colored Free Masons in the United States which traces its origin back to a lodge duly chartered by the English Grand Lodge, but colored Masons are regarded as irregular in this country. Such organizations as the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and the Shakh of the Kaaba are not strictly Masonic, although membership in them is limited to Masons who have received certain specified degrees in either the York or the Scottish Rite.

GRAND MASONIC LODGES.

There are 57 grand lodges in the United States and British America, with a total membership of 831,022. New York with 111,365 is the largest and Massachusetts has a membership of 42,093.

BRIEF HISTORY OF MASONRY.

three degrees of Entered Apprentice, Fellow Craft, and Master Mason, which constitute the work of the lodge, clusters around the story of the building of the Temple at Jerusalem. Students of Freemasonry, pursuing their research or speculation as initiate in its mysteries, profess to have traced its origin to sources much more remote and the Rev. George Oliver, a popular and voluminous Masonic writer in the early part of the nineteenth century, set forth that Moses was a Grand Master, having Joshua as his deputy, with Aholab and Bezaleel as Grand Wardens.

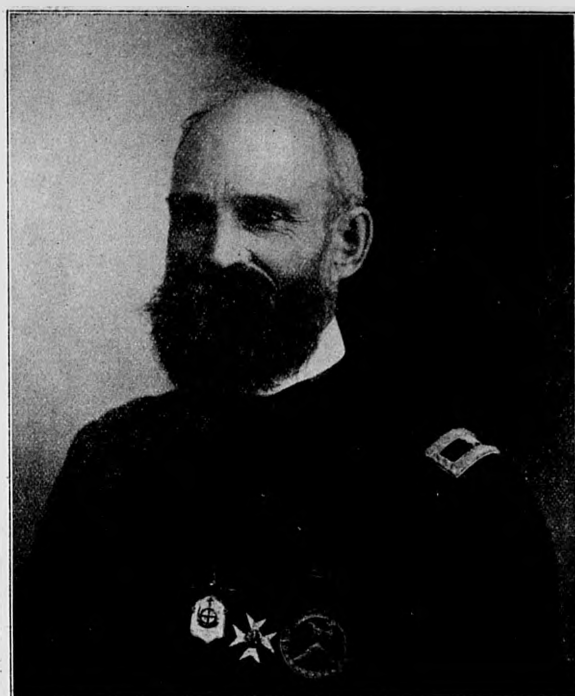

Coming down to records which can be established, it is found that on June 24, 1717, four Masonic lodges then existing in London, England, erected themselves into a Grand Lodge and elected their first Grand Master. Thereafter new lodges could be formed in England only by warrant from the Grand Lodge. The order extended into the provinces and eventually provincial Grand Masters were appointed. The Grand Lodge extended its jurisdiction beyond England, granting charters to many foreign lodges. Its supremacy was contested in the latter part of the eighteenth century, when the ancient York Lodge, with which were allied Masons who had been irregularly initiating others, claimed to be the Supreme Grand Lodge on the ground, generally regarded as fabulous, that there had been an assembly of Masons at York in the year 926 from which had descended the authority claimed. With this controversy there originated what are now recognized as the caputular degrees, or Royal Arch Masonry, the emblematic color of which is red, that of the lodges, dedicated to the

SIR G. H. PRIEST, C. G.
Jerusalem Commandery.

Saints John, being blue, whence the derivation of the descriptive title, "blue lodge," borne by them at the present time. Royal Arch Masonry was introduced by the York Lodge, the ritual being based upon legends dealing with the second building of the Temple. It was a step toward templarism, and out of it grew the Grand Chapter of Harodim, founded in London in 1787. This was a revival in speculative form of the order of Knights Templar, suppressed by decree of the Council of Vienna in 1312, because of the supposed heresies it entertained. The rival grand lodges of London and York united in 1813, the body resulting from this union being known as the United Grand Lodge of England. Freemasonry was transplanted into France in 1725, into Ireland in 1729, and, during the next ten years, into Holland, Russia, Spain, Italy, Scotland and Germany.

The first attempt to introduce Freemasonry in America was the appointment by the London Grand Lodge of a Provincial Grand Master for New Jersey in 1730, but there is no account of that official having established any lodges. A lodge was opened in Boston, Mass., in 1733, and from that time the order began to make its way in the several colonies, lodges being opened under charters issued, some by the English Grand Lodge and some by the subsequently instituted Grand Lodge of Scotland. After the successful issue of the War of the Revolution, the lodges thus established became independent of their parent Grand Lodges on the other side of the Atlantic, and established Grand Lodges of their own in their respective States. The institution has had greater prosperity in this than in any other country. There are two recognized rites in the United States, one being known as the "York Rite," and the other as the "Scottish Rite." The "blue lodge" degrees of Entered Apprentice, Fellow Craft and Master Mason are common to both. Many members of the fraternity take all the degrees of both rites, as there is no conflict between them.

H.M. SIR EDMUND G. POND, E. C.
Gethsemane Commandery

MYSTIC SHRINE.

The Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine is a body which admits to membership none but Free Masons, this fact leading to an erroneous impression among outsiders that it is a Masonic institution. Those eligible are Masons of the thirty-second degree, A. A. S. Rite (eighteen degrees in England), or Knights Templar in good standing. The order is said to have been originally instituted in the year of the Hegira 25, the year 656 of the Christian era, its founder being the Mohammedan Kalif Alee, cousin-german and son-in-law of the prophet Mohammed. It was established at Mekkah, in Arabia, as an organization designed to dispense justice, including the execution of merited punishment, in the case of criminals escaping their just deserts through the tardiness of the courts. Another of its aims was to promote religious toleration among cultured men of all nations. The modern order is of recent origin, and has had a rapid growth. The governing body in America is the Imperial Council, and there are eighty-five subordinate bodies, designated Temples. The total membership is 67,354. The next meeting of the Imperial Council will be held at Saratoga, N. Y., July 8 and 9, 1903. The present officers of the Imperial Council are as follows: Imperial Potentate, Henry C. Atkin, Omaha, Neb.; Imperial Deputy Potentate, George H. Green, Dallas, Texas; Imperial Chief Rabbah, George L. Brown, Buffalo, N. Y.; Imperial Assistant Rabbah, Henry A. Collins, Toronto, Canada; Imperial High Priest and Prophet, Alvan P. Clayton, St. Joseph, Mo.; Imperial Oriental Guide, Frank C. Roundy, Chicago, Ill.; Imperial Treasurer, William S. Brown, No. 520 Wood St., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Imperial Recorder, Benjamin W. Rowell, No. 206, Masonic Temple, Boston, Mass.; Imperial First Ceremonial Master, Edwin I. Alderman, Marion, Iowa; Imperial Second Ceremonial Master, George L. Street, Richmond, Va.; Imperial Marshal, Frederick A. Hines, Los Angeles, Cal.; Imperial Captain of Guards, Charles A. Tonsor, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Imperial Outer Guard, J. Frank Treat, Fargo, N. D.

YORK RITE.

In the York Rite there are ten degrees beyond those of the "Blue badge," and these are worked in three different bodies, respectively known as the Chapter (Royal Arch Masons), the Council (Royal and Select Masters), and the Commandery (Knights Templar). The capital degrees, four in number, are those of Mark Master, Past Master, Most Excellent Master, Royal Arch Master. Those of the Council, numbering three, consist of Royal Master, Select Master, Super Excellent Master. In passing to the higher degrees of the Commandery many Masons ignore the Council degrees, which they can do in every jurisdiction in the United States excepting that of Virginia, where only Super Excellent Masters are eligible for the chivalric degrees. Those consist of Red Cross Knight, Knight Templar, Knight of Malta.

SCHOOL NOTES

The boys of the Newton High school are rejoicing in the possession of two pennants won this spring. The base ball team was victorious in the Preparatory League and the golf team has just won the championship in the Greater Boston Intercollegiate Golf Association. The first golf match was played with the Arlington High school, and the Newton boys met with defeat, but since then the team has won thirteen successive victories. In the spring series of seven games, Newton has scored 121 points to its opponents 5. In five of the games the opposing teams did not secure a point. The team this year was composed of D. R. Manning, Capt.; W. Hickox, Jr., J. Leary and L. Collin, R. K. Gorton and A. Schofield, also played in several games. Next year's team will be even stronger than this year's, as every member of the team will be in school next year, and it is expected that several crack players will enter in the freshman class next fall.

Plant Line Summer Service Complete.
Beginning with Saturday, June 20th, the double service of the Plant Line to Halifax, Hawkesbury and Charlottetown will be in full operation. The Olivette will sail Saturdays and the Halifax Tuesdays, each making a round trip of fourteen hundred miles per week. This provides the most delightful ocean trip in Eastern waters, and the number taking it from now on is only limited by the capacity of the ships. It has a "come on" spirit in it. If you want to catch it, send for their booklet, "Lights Along the Shore," to J. A. Flanders, passenger agent, 20 Atlantic avenue, Boston, Mass.

NORUMBIGA PARK

The Rustic Theatre program this week is without question the strongest of the season. The leading feature of the bill every afternoon and evening is the triple wire act of the three Macarte Sisters. These three young ladies possess the rare combination of beauty, athletic figures, and intrepidity of skill in their acrobatic work. Their unique and difficult act is that of a serpentine dance on the slack wire done by one of the sisters, while the other two support it at either end by holding it between their teeth.

There will be special 4th of July attractions on Saturday of next week; and an entire change of program all the week in the Rustic Theatre.

Greene-Nichols

Seldom has a larger or more fashionable audience gathered in Grace church than was present Saturday afternoon, when Miss Charlotte Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Nichols was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin Farnham Greene of Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed at 4.30 by Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn, rector of the church. The church and chancel were beautifully decorated with potted plants and ferns and previous to and during the ceremony musical selections were rendered on the organ with harp accompaniment.

Miss Grace Nichols, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss John Leland and Miss Ethel Stone of Boston, Miss Helen Gill of Jamaica Plain and Miss Helen Gilbert of Milton.

The best man was Everett Arnold Greene, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Ernest Hallock Webb and George Nichols of New York, G. Harvey Hull of Cambridge, E. Tudor Gross of Providence, Albert L. Scott of Greenville, S. C.; Clifford Spence Anderson of Providence, Gardner Coby Walworth of Newton Centre, Edwin Hale Abbott, Jr., of Cambridge, Ralph Abercrombie of Worcester and Francis Prescott of Newton.

A reception for the bridal party only, followed the ceremony.
Mr. and Mrs. Greene are to reside at 308 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, where they will be at home after November 1st.

The Fund for the new kitchen at the Newton Hospital was increased $1228.81 by the entertainment given at the residence of Mr. Warren, West Newton, June sixth. The committee in charge wish to thank all those who contributed so much to the success of the "Pied Piper" and aided them in their effort to provide a new kitchen for the Hospital, which at the present time is so much needed.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Keith's Theatre—Another capital show will be given at Keith's the week of June 29, with several new faces among the list of entertainers, including Sallie Stembler, the noted vocal comedienne; Alfred Arnesen, a marvelous equilibrist; the Watermelon trust, a quintet of clever "real coon" singers and dancers, and Myers and Ross, in a novel act of juggling and disc manipulation. "The Counsel For the Defense," a strong one-act melodrama, will be played by Mr. and Mrs. Robyns, who have not appeared here in several seasons, and there will be comedy stunts by Ray and Wood, and Collins and North, both clever teams of funmakers. The Fadettes woman's orchestra, the most popular summer attraction ever put on at Keith's will perform an unusually attractive program of light music, and an entire new list of motion pictures will be shown in the vitagraph.

Majestic Theatre—The best evidence of the popularity of "York State Folks" at the Majestic Theatre is its continuation, now for the fifth week, with crowded attendances at every performance. There is an appealing quality in the piece which is irresistible and attracts one back to see it the second and even third time. The fifth week of this honestly prolonged run of "York State Folks" began last Monday with still another crowded house, and the management found the box office indications pointing so strongly to big attendances all the week that in addition to the regular bargain magazines on Wednesday and Saturday there was an extra matinee Hooker Day.

Boston Music Hall—The second week of the summer engagement of the Aubrey Stock Company at Boston Music Hall will be ushered in next Monday afternoon with a splendid production of the pleasing comedy drama, "Toll Gate Inn." The play is in four acts, and the scenes are laid in and around Bennington, Vt., during Revolutionary days. The play is one that offers to each member of the company a congenial role and crowded houses should be the rule. "The Fire Patrol" will follow.

THE MAYORALTY.

The decision of Mayor Weeks not to be a candidate for re-election will precipitate at once a warm struggle for the republican nomination next November.

Several candidates have been kept in readiness for the fray, although each and all, had refused to enter the field against Captain Weeks.

With the field open, however, the fight will apparently come between President Weed of the board of aldermen, from Ward 7, and Alderman Mellen of Ward 5. Ex-Senator Albert L.
Harwood is also mentioned, and there are apparently any number of would-be candidates who may come to the surface at a later date.

President Weed has been a member of the board of aldermen for five years and is serving as President of the board for the second time. He has had a thorough training in municipal affairs and his friends claim that he has earned and is fairly entitled to the nomination for mayor.

Alderman Mellen, who is the leading candidate from the south side of the city, is now serving his third year in the board, and is easily the orator of that body. His candidacy is based, not only on his fitness,
for the office, but upon the idea that it is time the south side of the city was represented in the selection of a mayor. That section of the city has not had one of its residents in the mayor's chair since the days of Mayor Burr in 1899-90, and its claims will be carefully presented to the citizens this fall.

It is a bit too early to indulge in political prophecy, and the long hot days of summer may develop or shrivel
the hopes and aspirations of the candidates, who may take the field too early.

At this time we strive simply to present the facts, without championing the cause of any one.

The parade on Wednesday emphasizes only too strongly the deplorable lack for respect to the flag, in the average American citizen.

It is refreshing to learn that the school boys on Farlow Park, doffed their caps as the "star spangled banner" was carried by, but among those of an older generation, not one in a hundred, lifted his hat to the flag.

Mayor Weeks spoke of this matter at the Grand Army banquet on Decoration Day, and it should be repeated again and again, until everyone acknowledges its value.

The stars and stripes when escorted by armed men, stands for the greatness and might of the nation, and should be respected accordingly.

This is the beginning of true patriotism and cannot be inculcated too early nor emphasized too late in the lives of American citizens.

Hats off to the flag.

Mayor Weeks has decided that he will not be a candidate for a third term, notwithstanding the great pressure and numerous signed petitions which were brought to bear on him.
His decision will be received with general regret for his administration of the city's affairs has been most satisfactory. It is certainly to be hoped that Captain Weeks will not retire from public life, and his experience in public affairs in the city has certainly qualified him for service in other directions in behalf of the city.

Clubs and Lodges.

Triton Council, R. A., held a meeting Monday evening in A. O. U. W.
hall, West Newton. Fifteen candidates were initiated by the Waltham team and the work was witnessed by about 250 members and guests, including several grand officers and members from the lodges of Waltham, Boston, Newton and Watertown. Preceding the business session a banquet was served.

G. V. T. Ida C. Gammons of Loyalty Lodge, I. O. G. T., of West Newton, has been appointed district deputy for Essex County.

At a meeting of the Athletic Association held last week in the assembly hall, C. R. Leonard was elected president; Lowell Hunt, vice president; Mr. C. D. Mervise, treasurer, and John Johnson, secretary.

ST. JOHN'S DAY.

Observed as Field Day
By Knights Templar.Over 600 Knights Participate in the Parade.

Notwithstanding the dubious weather of last Wednesday, the streets of Newton and Newtonville were bright with the handsome regalia of the visiting Sir Knights Templar, the guests of the local Commandery, and resounded to the music of numerous bands.

The observance of St. John's Day
by the Knights Templar has become almost universal and the Commande-ries of Newtonville, Milford, Hudson, Natick, Fitchburg, Cambridge and Hyde Park have arranged for annual Field Days, at which one of the Commanderies shall act as host. This is the third year of the agreement, the previous meets having been held at Hudson and Fitchburg.

Elaborate arrangements had been made for the entertainment of their guests by the officers and members of Gethsemane Commandery, and included a parade, banquet, visit to Norumbega Park, a trolley ride, and an invitation to attend the band concert at the Newton Club in the evening.

The program was carried out with the exception of the trolley ride and the band concert, the rain spoiling the latter end of the day.

The Commanderies arrived at Newton about 9.30 a. m., and were received with all due honor by Gethsemane Commandery. The music of the bands, and the handsome appearance of the Knights attracted a large number of spectators, and the line of march was thronged.

The parade consisted of Platoon of Police, in charge of Chief Fred A. Tarbox.

Lynn Cadet Band.
P. Em. Sir Frank L. Nagle, Chief Marshal.

P. Em. Sir Lewis E. Binney, Chief of Staff.
Sir Knight L. C. Lane, Adjutant.
Staff of the Chief Marshal.

Gethsemane Commandery, 175
swords.
Edmund G. Pond, Em. Commander.
Band.

Milford Commandery, 80 swords.
Lowell E. Fales, Em. Commander.
Band.

Jerusalem Commandery, Fitchburg, 85 swords.
Edward D. Moody, Em. Commander.
Band.

Trinity Commandery, Hudson, 85
swords.
Freeman A. Morse, Em. Commander.
Band.

Natick Commandery, 60 swords.
Frank A. Bean, Em. Commander.
Band.

Cyprus Commandery, Hyde Park, 75
swords.
Alex. G. Childs, Em. Commander.
Band.

Cambridge Commandery, 50 swords.
Warren P. Dudley, Em. Commander.
Carriages.

The column proceeded from Armory
Hall, through Washington, Centre, Vernon, Eldredge, Church, Washington, Harvard streets, Newtonville avenue, Walnut, Otis streets, Lowell avenue, Washington street to Newtonville square, where the parade was dismissed.

There were many houses decorated,
on the line of march, although there was room for much more. Salutes were fired at the residence of Sir Knight W. J. Follett on Eldredge street as the line passed by and Far-low Park was crowded with spectators including the children from the Underwood and Bigelow schools.

The line was reviewed at the Newton Club by Eminent Sir E. Bentley
Young, Grand Senior Warden, Mayor
John W. Weeks, Very Eminent Sir H.
H. Rugg, and Eminent Sir W. H.
Cushman of the grand commandery.

After a brief rest with light refreshments in Temple hall, the Knights were taken to the Woodland Park Hotel in trolley cars, and a banquet held in a large tent pitched on the grounds of the hotel.

At the banquet brief speeches were made by Mayor Weeks, Grand Senior Warden Young, and Chief Marshal Nagle. A concert followed in which all the bands participated.

The company were then taken to Norumbega Park, where the performance was witnessed through a drizzling rain.

Following a light supper at the Woodland Park Hotel, the remainder of the program was abandoned.

At the Churches.

A farewell reception to Mr. E. A.
Lincoln, the retiring secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will be held in the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, next Monday evening, at eight o'clock, in charge of Mr. Lincoln's friends in that church and in the Association.

Secretary Lincoln will preach at the Immanuel Baptist church Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock. This will be his last public utterance before going to his new work in Camden, N. J.

At the Newtonville Methodist church, this evening at 7.45 a service will be held to properly observe the bi-centennial of John Wesley. Addresses will be made by Rev. Albert Hammett, Rev. Dr. Henry J. Patrick, Rev. W. J. Thompson and Mr.
John G. Tompkins. Music will be provided by the choir of St. John's church.

Political Notes.

Newton will have 20 delegates and Watertown 5 in the next Republican Senatorial Convention of 46 delegates.

EARLY MORNING AIR.

Its Invigorating Effects Largely Due,
It is Said, to Dew.

Most people at some time in their lives probably have risen early enough to experience the bracing effect given by filling the lungs while dew is still on the grass. So far as analysis goes the composition of early morning air is not different from that of air at any other time. It is well to remember, however, that during the passing of night to day and of day to night several physical changes take place.

There is a fall of temperature at sunset and a rise again at dawn, and consequently moisture is alternately being thrown out and taken up again, and it is well known that change of state is accompanied by electrical phenomena and certain chemical manifestations also. The formation of dew has probably therefore far more profound effects than merely the moisten-ing of objects with water.

Dew is vitalizing not entirely because it is water, but because it possesses an invigorating action due partially, at any rate, to the fact that it is saturated with oxygen, and it has been stated that during its formation peroxide of hydrogen and some ozone are developed. It is not improbable that the peculiarly attractive and refreshing quality which marks the early morning air has its origin in this way.

Certain it is that the bracing property of the early morning air wears off as the day advances, and it is easy to conceive that this loss of freshness is due to the oxygen, ozone or peroxide of hydrogen, whichever it may be, being used up.

The difficulty of inducing grass to flourish under a tree in full leaf is well known and is generally explained by saying that the tree absorbs the nourishing constituents of the soil or that it keeps the sunlight away from the grass and protects it from rain. It is doubtful whether any of these explanations is true, the real reason most probably being that the vitalizing dew cannot form upon the grass under a tree, whereas, as a rule, both rain and light can reach it.

Dew is probably essential to the well being of both plants and animals to a greater extent than is known.—New York American.

PICKINGS FROM FICTION.

A witty woman is a treasure; a witty man is a power.—"Diana of the Crossways" (George Meredith).

Speaking to, or crying over, a husband never did any good yet.—"Plain Tales From the Hills" (Rudyard Kipling).

Too many words be worse than not enough, for they'll often leave a man's meaning foggy.—"The River" (Eden Philpotts).

There's a saying that a man who can live quite happily alone must be one of two things—an angel or a demon.—
"Sons of the Morning" (Eden Phil-potts).

What can one say of the highest music except that, like death, it is the great leveler; it gathers us all to its fender keeping—and we rest.—"In Varying Moods" (Beatrice Harraden).

The genius of hospitality is not so much in making people meet, but in helping them to part—on good terms.
Remember that!—"The Gods, Some Mortals and Lord Wickenham" (John Oliver Hobbes).

A Modern Cannery.

A modern cannery is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity. After the fish is cleaned automatic machines do nearly all the remainder of the work, even in some instances filling the cans with a motion for all the world like that of two human hands, one holding the can,
the other crowding it full of raw fish.
I shall not attempt to enter into a description of the machinery. The can of fish is started rolling on its way, and one has the impression that it continues to roll through machine after machine, hardly touched by human hands.

It rolls into the cooker and out again,
even rolls itself into a bright colored label, and finally somehow rolls into a packing box, ready to be loaded in the car waiting at the door.—Ray Stannard Baker in Century.

Fashionable Chairs, Perhaps.

Squire Hanson's language seldom lacked vigor, but was often wanting in strict accuracy and sometimes in consistency.

"I've been over to talk with Alvin Pond about selling that corner lot," he said one day to his wife, his ruddy face mottled with purple from some recent exertion, "and I'll never enter her parlor again, never! Not a chair in the room but what is impossible to sit down in, out of the question to get up from and leaves you with such a cramp you can't move hand nor foot
when you stand!"—Youth's Companion.

Precept and Example.

Johnny had come in with a story of a remarkable automobile he had just seen. He declared that it was "as big as a house!"

"Now, Johnny," said his father severely, "you know it was not as big as a house. Why do you exaggerate things so? I've talked to you a million times about that habit of yours, and it doesn't seem to do a bit of good."

Man Born Unto Trouble.

"Of course," said the optimist, "if a man gets into the habit of hunting trouble he's sure to find it."
"Yes," replied the pessimist, "and if he's so lazy that he always tries to avoid it it will find him. So what's the difference?"—Philadelphia Press.

version to formulate them after success has been achieved!—Norfolk Lan-mark.

Harrington-Thomas

Miss Medora Carola Thomas,
daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Burgess Thomas, and Mr. Ernest Stone Harrington, a Providence cotton broker, were married in the Baptist church, Newton Centre, yesterday afternoon.

The bride has been active in the younger society set of that city. Her father is a well known professor at the Newton Baptist Theological Seminary, and added interest came from his acting as officiating clergyman at his daughter's bridal.

The maid of honor was Miss Adelaide Virginia Schoonover of Madison, N. J. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith Thomas of Chicago, Miss Theodora Thomas of New York and Miss Eunice Goddard of Springfield,
all cousins of the bride, Miss Grace Silbee of Lynn, Miss Lida English of Newton Centre and Miss Sadie Baldwin of Brookline. The bride was given away by her brother, the Rev.
Leo Boone Thomas of Dorchester.

The best man was Earl A. Harrington, a brother of the groom.
After the church ceremony a reception, attended by several hundred guests, was held at the residence of the bride's parents, at 109 Warren street, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs.
Harrington were assisted in receiving by their parents, Dr. and Mrs.
Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Harrington. The couple will make their home in Providence.

Howard-Brooks

Miss Eunice Brooks of Bristol, Ct., and Perley W. Howard of Newton

of Mr. C. M. Hall, 74 Georgia street, Roxbury, uncle of the bride, by the Rev. F. B. Matthews of Newton. Miss Lillian Mason was the maid of honor and Mr. Verner H.
Wilson of Nashua, N. H., the best man. The bride party was led by Master Edward E. Hayward, Jr., as ring bearer. Mrs. Helen E. (Carter) Wright, a cousin of the groom, sang, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs.
Mae S. Hayward.

LITERARY NOTES

America's teachers are given first place in the July National. E. E.
Winship tells how Boston is preparing to welcome them, 25,000 strong, early in July. His article is illustrated with portraits of thirty leaders of American Education.
Mr. Chapple's "Affairs at Washington" is full of brisk and lavishly illustrated chat from the capital.
Colonel James MacLachlan's "Side Lights on Lincoln," tells of Grant's loyalty to his chief in 1864, when politicians wanted the soldier to run for president. John Howard Todd's "American Invasion of Canada" forecasts the annexation of the Dominion. Dalls Lore Sharp, George
T. Richardson, J. A. Mitchell, May Ellis Nichols, Walden Fawcett, Frederick W. Coburn, Charles Ferguson, Frank Putnam, Frank M. Sparks,
Marion C. Hallett and Joe Mitchell Chapple contribute other articles and departments, dealing with outdoor life, art, commerce, politics,
the stage, current event, our army and navy, John Brown's farm, and the development of American states and cities. The story tellers of the number are Grace MacGowan Cooke, James Ball Naylor, Minnie Reid
French, John Austin Schetty and Walter Bidwell. The scores of pictures are all fresh and timely. The frontispiece is a fine portrait of Mrs.
Walter Farwell of Washington and Chicago, listed in the "American Beauty Book" as "the most beautiful woman in America."

THE ANT QUEENS.

They Live Longer Than the Workers of Their Communities.

How long may an ant queen live? In their natural habitat some queens doubtless have short lives, but by reason of the protection afforded them and the seclusion enforced by the workers they probably live much longer than other members of the community. Within artificial surroundings they attain a comparatively long life. The oldest emmet queen known to science was one preserved under the care of Sir John Lubbock, later Lord Avebury. A number of years ago during a visit to this distinguished naturalist at his country seat, High Elms, Kent, the writer for the first time saw this venerable sovereign living in the ingenious artificial formica which had been prepared for her. She was then in the prime of life, as it afterward appeared, being seven years old.

In the summer of 1887 Sir John was again visited, this time at his town house in London. After greetings he was asked about his royal pet.

"I have sad news to tell you," he answered.

"What? Is the queen dead?"

"She died only yesterday. I have not had the heart to tell the news as yet even to my wife."

Having offered my hearty condolence, I asked to see the dead queen. Sir John led the way to the room where his artificial nests were kept. The glass case which contained the special formica in which the old ant had lived was opened up. Lying in one of the larger open spaces or rooms was the dead queen. She was surrounded by a crowd of workers, who were tenderly licking her, touching her with their antennae and making other demonstrations as if soliciting her attention or desiring to wake her out of sleep. Poor, dumb, loving, faithful creatures! There was no response. Their queen mother lay motionless beneath their demonstrations.

"They do not appear to have discovered that she is really dead," remarked Sir John. Afterward he wrote me of another queen which died at the age of fourteen. The ants dragged her body about with them when they moved until it fell to pieces.—H. C. McCook in Harper's Magazine.

A SNAKE STORY.

Men Who Coax the Venomous Reptiles to Bite Them.

"Men can become accustomed to snake bite just as they can become accustomed to anything else," said a man who had spent much time in studying the habits of reptilian life, "and in not a few instances which have come under my observation the snake bite has really become not only pleasurable, but a kind of physical necessity. You see, the poison is stimulating. It works like an opiate of the kind administered by persons who fall victims to the pernicious habit of using the needle, or of taking the stuff internally. I have known a number of men who would make snakes bite them every day, and they simply couldn't get along without it. Their energies would begin to lag. They would feel drowsy and lifeless. By allowing a snake to bite them they could relieve this condition. The poison would stimulate and buoy up, having the same effect as a dose of morphine or cocaine or other kinds of 'dope' has on persons addicted to its use. Of course they are careful not to get an overdose of poison, always extracting enough of it to keep down the dangerous consequences of the bite. Often men addicted to this ugly practice are forced to fatalize and grieve the snake up to the point of desperation in order to make it bite. But they will strike after awhile. It is an awful thing to even think about, isn't it? But this world is filled with curious things and curious persons, and among the wonders of a coarser kind is the man who takes the snake fang 'bypo.'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Ginger Beer.

An excellent ginger beer may be prepared in the following manner: Take two ounces of bruised ginger, two ounces of cream of tartar, two pounds of lump sugar, two lemons cut in slices with the rind left on; put all these into a large pan or pitcher and pour two gallons of boiling water on them. Let this stand for several hours, strain it, and when quite cold add a tablespoonful of brewers' yeast and let it remain in the ginger beer for twelve hours. Then skim off the yeast and bottle the beer. Press the corks very firmly down and tie them. It will be ready for use in a week.

Grim Signs.

Rain during a burial is considered an excellent "sign" throughout the West India islands. If one measures his own height with a rod which has been used in measuring a corpse for the coffin he himself will die within the year. A stroke with the hand of a corpse is believed by the West Indian to be a sure cure for all pains and swellings.

Very Playful.

"Your little brother seems like a playful boy."

"Yes, he is. He's very playful. When sister was married he stopped up the chimney, threw pepper in the fire, put brandy in the lemonade and turned the garden hose on the minister. Oh, he's playful all right."

It Made a Difference.

Mother—Goodness me! Is that Irene at the piano?

Little Son—Yes, ma.

Mother—Well, go and ask her what she is doing. If she is practicing she can keep on until the hour is up, but if she is playing tell her to stop.

PICTURES IN THE EYE

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES OF THAT COMPLEX ORGAN, THE BRAIN.

Theories as to the Cause of the Living Colored Pencil and Changing Images That Appear on Lying Down After an Exciting Day.

There are many who will not readily understand what is meant by pictures in the eye, unless it be the imagination, or "mind's eye," of Hamlet, for the power of seeing them is not conferred on all alike. Even those who have seen them from time to time, and probably given them little heed, may not feel altogether sure about the matter without a word of explanation.

Lying in bed, after a tiring or exciting day, with your eyes closed and about to fall asleep, have you never seen, apparently in the eyeball, spots and streaks of colored light, changing their forms and shifting their places? Have you never watched them passing into complicated patterns, like those of the kaleidoscope, or into pretty landscapes quite unknown to you, or into strange faces, now and again very beautiful or angelic, but often as ugly and hideous as goblins from the infernal regions, or, haply, into scenes of action reminding you of the drama, but such as you never saw in real life or upon any stage? These pictures are more alive than the "living pictures" of the music halls. They have the hues of life and art and rival the quick change artist in their protean transformations. The cinematograph that can imitate their ceaseless evolution without a hitch or tremor will be a novelty and make the fortune of its inventor.

What are they? It is one of the mysteries of that marvelous—nay, miraculous—organ, the brain. We must distinguish them from other mysteries of the "border land" which lies between the adjoining states of wideawake and sound asleep.

They are not the images of a reverie or day dream. Whether we recall the past in our waking hours or invent new incidents like a novelist, we can govern them to some extent and are quite aware of their fanciful or mental character. They are not a hallucination in the proper sense of the term. We feel they are subjective, or within us; we suppose them in the eye itself, whereas we believe a hallucination is objective, or without us. An apparition or specter that we take for a reality is a hallucination. The ghost of Hamlet's father, witnessed by several persons, and the spook of his distant brother, seen by Lord Brougham, were probably hallucinations of a "telepathic" order. The picture of Millais where a man starts up and sees a luminous lady at the foot of his bed is a case of hallucination. The "dream image" of the undergraduate who dreamed that he was chased by a green figure and, awakening, saw it in his room was also a hallucination.

Pictures in the eye are more akin to what are called "after images." A gentleman (a doctor, if we are not mistaken), after a fatiguing day, was cheered by the sight of a beefsteak for his dinner, as he very well might, but seemingly the steak made a deep impression on his mind or his digestion, for while he was drowsing with his eyes closed after eating it, he saw it again as vividly as before, and on dropping asleep he saw it a third time in his dream. It was doubtless a substantial steak, not a ghost, and yet it haunted him.

There is, of course, more than one theory of these living pictures in the eye, or, as they are called in science, "hypnagogic images." One is that they are formed on the retina of the eye and confined to it. Another is that they are purely mental and formed in the cortex or bark, so to speak, of the cerebrum. As often happens, the truth appears to lie in a combination of both views. Recent observations of M. Yves Delage have put the question to experimental proof. When we look at a bright body—for example, the sun—and shut our eyes we see a colored spot of light, and if we move the eye up or down, to right or left, the spot moves with it. The spot, in fact, is left by the image of the sun upon the retina and therefore moves with it. Now, if the hypnagogic images are on the retina they will also move with the eye, and this is what M. Delage has found. Nevertheless the brain also comes into play in forming them.

Corry O'Launs.

Joseph O'Brien is an Irishman who has traveled all over the world, served in the royal navy and knows everybody. You can never mention a man or a fact or anything else but Joe knows it.

One evening I was sitting in a "decent public" with some friends discussing the recent events.

I closed my remarks with a quotation from "Coriolanus," and just then Joe walked in and happened to hear it.

"Who said that?" said Joe.

"Oh, Coriolanus. Of course you knew him."

"No, I never knew him, but I knew his people. A fine old Rosecommon family, the O'Launs. I knew all his brothers, but I never knew Corry."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Leaf Cutting Bees.

The leaf cutting bees are near relatives of the honey and bumble bees, which they closely resemble. They derive their name from the habit you have observed of cutting out bits of leaves for their cells. The circular pieces are for the ends of the cells and the oblong pieces for the sides. These cells are usually in burrows cut into wood, for some of the leaf cutting bees, like the carpenter bees, have the talent of cutting holes into wood.—St. Nicholas.

Death of A. Lawrence Hitchcock.

Abbot Lawrence Hitchcock died very suddenly, June 23d. He was born in Boston, July 4th, 1848, but his early life was passed in Newton.

Educated in the public schools, he was actively engaged in business in Boston for some years. At no time very robust he was obliged to make his home in the west and for many years had been a well known resident of Denver, where he will be much missed by a large circle of Christian workers. His whole heart was in benevolent and mission work and all the time he could spare from his business was given gladly in promoting these interests. Possessed of an unusually sweet and sunny disposition he made friends wherever he went, and all who met him will remember his genial smile and cordial manner. He was a son of the late Hon. David K. Hitchcock of this city. An invalid widow and one daughter survive him. Funeral services were held this afternoon at three o'clock from the residence of Mr. H. M. Greenough, of Bennington street.

Financial.

For the moment, the market seems to be somewhat in the position of a shuttlecock. There is no longer a tendency to move one way; the bear party is no longer in complete control. At the same time, however, the bulls are not aggressive, and powerful interests seem disposed to accumulate stock quietly, rather than to bid prices up. The result is that prices move up and down within narrow limits, with no marked indication of a strong movement in either direction.—Corey, Milliken & Co.

The market during the past week has been largely of a professional character. There is still a large out-standing short interest, and it looks as if the bears might again attempt to raid prices. There has been good buying, however, and as prices are now at a very low level, the bears will no longer have things their own way. From now on there will be two sides to the market, and we believe that the long side will prove the safer and more profitable one.

The forced liquidation is over, and the bargain hunters are ready and waiting to pick up the dividend payers on all declines. Prices no longer recede easily, and the character of the rumors circulated by the bears during the past week shows the extremes they are obliged to resort to in their campaign for lower prices.

Newton Vacation Week.

The committee of the Newton Vacation Week render their sincere thanks to all who assisted either by donation, service, or patronage in making successful the sale of June eleventh. The sum of two hundred dollars has been realized, which will enable them to carry on, though not to increase, the work of previous years, and already some are enjoying the fruits of the efforts made during the past month. More will go, the first of July, and throughout the summer, bright days will be scattered into lives that would otherwise be dreary.

REFLECTIONS.

A wife often permits her affection to blind her reason.

Regard for petty things often will dwarf a man's ambition.

A woman's love can become annoying as well as burdensome.

Marriage based on honest affection will withstand the ravages of time.

When a woman gives way to anger, she begs her own pardon with tears.

Many women find happiness only when attending to the affairs of others.

Confidence is not easily gained where exaggerated love of self is found to exist.

To decide between love and duty has caused hours of worry to men as well as to women.

The man with a vice wonders why so many persons think it their duty to make public the fact.

Man often shows the hard side of his disposition to mark more strongly the generous shades.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Lunatology in China.

In China the practice of lunatology exists at the present day and is of very early origin. The chief festival, that of Yueping, or moon cakes, is held during the eighth month of the Chinese year. Persons make cakes of various sizes in the shape of the moon and palat different figures upon them. Friends and relatives pay visits to one another, give entertainments and present their cakes after making protestations and pouring out oblations to the moon.

It is very remarkable that a verse of one of the Jewish prophets should be explained by this Chinese custom. "The children gather wood," said the seer, "and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough to make cakes to the queen of heaven."

ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

SUSAN B. ANTHONY'S HISTORY OF THE MOVEMENT.

Points of Interest About Her Latest Volume, Which Contains Much Valuable and Interesting Information on This Subject.

The last volume of the "History of Woman Suffrage," recently issued by Susan B. Anthony and Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, answers effectively the demand for accurate information not only on this specific subject, but on the different phases of what is called "the woman question." This is a very live issue just now and is especially popular with debating societies of both men and women, but while the magazines and daily papers are full of interesting matter about women they are deficient in the concrete, statistical information which is absolutely essential to an intelligent presentation of this question. The woman suffrage headquarters have been so deluged with requests for arguments and statistics that they have been obliged to announce the financial impossibility of supplying so much literature free of charge. Miss Anthony has almost bankrupted herself in time and money by her determination to furnish the necessary ammunition to every one who wants to fire a gun.

No amount of tracts and leaflets, however, could supply the information contained in this big volume of 1,140 pages, all so thoroughly indexed that its value as a general reference book is fully assured. The introduction of twenty pages comprises a general review of the past and present status of woman suffrage, why its success has been so long delayed, the reasons for expecting its ultimate triumph, etc. The first chapter covers thoroughly the ground of the contention made by many that women already have the right to vote guaranteed them by the national constitution of the United States. The debater will rejoice in the array of arguments set forth in the succeeding twenty-one chapters, which contain not only the eloquent speeches made at the national suffrage conventions by the leading exponents of the cause, but also the famous debate in the United States senate on amending the constitution so as to enfranchise women and the discussion in both houses of congress on admitting Wyoming with woman suffrage. The reader gets the views of the opponents as well as the advocates.

The politician who attempts to secure any credit for his party in its attitude on this question will not find it in the caustic chapter on the record of national political conventions. General interest possibly will center in the chapters on the various states which contain the laws for women, their educational advantages, the offices they are filling, the amount of suffrage they possess and how they got it and the record of their legislatures on this subject. The story of the four states where women possess the full franchise is particularly interesting.

A valuable chapter is the one on Great Britain and her colonies, all of which confer some form of franchise on women. The part relating to New Zealand and Australia is especially apropos. Club women will enjoy the chapter on national organizations of women, as about 100 of these are carefully classified and considered. Those who are "seeking for a sign" as to the effect of woman suffrage in the states where it prevails will find it in the mass of testimony which has been systematically arranged in the appendix.

The immense amount of research and work which have been put upon this book can only be appreciated by a full examination. It is perhaps the most valuable contribution yet made to the cause of woman's enfranchisement. Miss Anthony has published the book at her own expense and with no expectation of any financial profit, as the price ($3) barely covers the cost of production. It is hoped that it will be very generally placed in libraries where the public can have access to it.

A Big Undertaking.

In a recent statement prepared for publication by Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, president of the D. A. R., she announced that "the society had its beginning in the fears of a few women that disaster was impending over our country from the neglect of the principles of its founders." She also stated that "one of the objects to which its members are giving special attention is the education of foreigners who are constantly becoming a part of our citizenship, and they are endeavoring to fit them for this in New York, Boston, Chicago, Buffalo, Minneapolis and many other cities."

The contemplation of this spectacle might well make the gods of Olympus forget their dignity. Imagine this little handful of women, scattered from Maine to California, undertaking to "fit for citizenship" the more than half a million immigrants who yearly land upon our shores, and meanwhile not asking these rights of citizenship for themselves or for the millions of native born women! It is to laugh. And if our newly arrived friends in the steerage have any sense of humor they certainly will be highly amused at the idea of being prepared for the elective franchise by the Daughters of the American Revolution, to whom this government, in its infinite wisdom, has denied this very privilege!

The Need of Woman's Ballot.

The Pennsylvania legislature has failed to pass the child labor bill for which the women have worked so hard. The little factory slaves of that state will have to suffer for at least two years more. It is an object lesson on the need of woman's ballot.

In the Supreme Court the full Bench has overruled the city's exceptions in the case of Mrs. Susan L. Bell vs. the city of Newton, in which she had received a verdict of $1374 for sewer and surface water assessments upon her remaining land. By agreement the landowner released land taken for a boulevard and made the city a cash contribution of $2000. The city in return agreed to assume the betterments, to pay the amount of the sewer assessments on the remaining land and take care of all the surface water thereon. Suit was brought to recover damages for breach of the agreement in respect to the sewer assessments and the surface water. The land in question was a rectangular parcel situated between Ward and Hammond streets, belonging to A. D. S. Bell, but standing in the name of his wife, who held as trustee for him.

THE EXPERT CASTER.

Placing His Fly Is Not Mere Chance, but a Fine Art.

The art of casting is in itself simple and may be readily acquired by any painstaking fisherman. The rod passes only through a quadrant; it starts parallel with the water and, coming to the perpendicular, stops. The motion is a quick, rigid jerk as fast as it can be made, and the rod does the rest. The motion forward is at the beginning a gradual feeling for the tension of the line—that is, when it is about to straighten. Once this is assured the movement increases in rapidity from butt to tip, the result being much the same as driving at a peg with a long handled hammer—slow at the start and quick at the finish, the bend of the rod being first at the butt and gradually ascending to the tip.

In casting nothing is left to chance by the expert caster. He knows exactly where he wants to put his fly, within a foot or two, and puts it there, the feathered barb traveling past him at from six inches to four feet above the water, as he may elect, although it may go above the shoulder if desired. In some long casts one may see the fly pass below the hip. Indeed the degree of command one can gradually acquire is really wonderful.

A single cast where fish are located is, as a rule, sufficient. They will rise at once, and if the fisherman is an expert at dropping his fly he can bring fish to the spot from some distance. One may frequently see fish attracted from a pole so far from the fly that they break water two or three times before taking the hook. On the other hand, a fly awkwardly dropped will be taken with a leisurely grab, the fish simply sucking it in, and the exhilaration of a split second rise is lost. The more expert a fisherman is at fly casting the more thoroughly he enjoys the sport.—Collier's Weekly.

THE TYPHOON.

A Chinese Legend of the Origin of This Storm.

This very odd bit is by a Chinaman: "A little schoolboy while on his way to school one day picked up what seemed to him a small white pebble. He put it into his pocket. It proved to be a snake egg, and in time through the heat of his pocket it hatched out a young reptile.

"The boy fell in love with it and carried it from day to day to school with him and fed it with a part of his own lunch until it became too big to be carried, when he made a nest for it at home.

"But one day it suddenly grew to enormous size, and upon the boy's arrival home he was frightened to death.

"When the monster saw what he had done he was sorely afflicted and refused to be fed, but immediately put on mourning by turning his color from brown to pure black. He crawled beside the grave of his departed friend and lay there for seven days and nights.

"At the completion of the seventh night he came back to his late home, but the boy's old mother was so enraged at him for killing her only son that she picked up an ax and chopped his tail off.

"With a fearful scream and a lash of his bleeding tail he felled the house and made his way to the Moo Soon San mountains, where he never shows himself but once a year, just about the time when he lost his tail, to come out and make trouble for the people by creating storms called the typhoon. This he does to square himself for losing his valuable tail."

Lounge Anatomy.

The modern interest in science through "observation" has become more or less of a mania. Even the children are bitten by it. The Little Chronicle says that George, aged five, takes a great interest in physiology and anatomy.

One day some members of the family had been studying a dissected porcupine and making drawings of the bones.

Not long after his sisters took an old lounge apart, and George watched them. Presently he came running to another member of the family, his eyes on fire, his cheeks flushed and his locks flying behind him.

"Come! Come!" he cried. "If you want to study physiology now's your chance. The girls have got the lounge all to pieces!"

She Was Ashamed.

Mistress (angrily)—Bridget, I find that you were one of my evening gowns at the bus drivers' ball last evening. It's the worst piece of impudence I ever heard of! You ought to be ashamed of yourself!

Bridget (cheekily)—Oh wuz, mum, Oi wuz. An' the young man said as Oi telt her wuz sich a frock in public ag'in he'd break our engagement.—London Telegraph.

Would Log It.

Photographer—Bog pardon, sir, but can't you look a little less stern and severe?

Sitter—Never mind how stern I look. This photograph is for campaign use. I am a candidate for judge. Go ahead.—Chicago Tribune.

The Physician's Affront.

"So you have decided to get another physician."

"I have," answered Mrs. Cimrox. "The idea of his prescribing flaxseed tea and mustard plasters for people as rich as we are!"—Washington Star.

What a happy world this would be if every man spoke as well of his live neighbors as he does of his dead ones!
